

CITIES AND COUNTIES MOVE FOR ROAD FUNDS

Allocation Direct From Washington Sought During State Crisis.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—Cities and counties of Georgia, distressed by the impounding of $17,000,000 Georgia highway funds by federal authorities, started scattered moves today to secure direct allocations of the money while legislators continued to talk of a self-convened session to solve the state's complex financial situation.

The government withdrew payment of Georgia's share of road funds after Governor Talmadge assumed financial "dictatorship" of the state. It was the second time within a year the fun had been blocked.

American Senator Arthur Chapman continued to organize forces to convene a special session. He said he had received additional favorable replies to his proposal for a self-convened session. He declined comment on a reported meeting of several senators in Macon Sunday.

The Columbus city commission unanimously adopted a resolution calling on Georgia's congressional delegation to sponsor laws allocating highway and other federal funds direct to the cities and counties.

The action was taken, the resolution said, because of "uncertainty and unsettled conditions in the executive and highway departments of Georgia." The resolution also said there was "grave danger that the federal authorities may withhold these funds indefinitely."

At Augusta, W. H. Sherman, clerk of the county commission, said he favored the plan to such a suggestion had been received from Georgia's two senators and from Representative Paul Brown.

The Richmond county commission asked the three congressmen for help, fearing federal aid projects would be shut down if federal funds are delayed for long.

A similar move was reported in Athens by Tate Wright, clerk of the Clarke county commission. He said the officials had wired Washington urging the federal highway funds which do not require matching by the state be allocated to counties and municipalities direct "during the present crisis in Georgia."

Another demand for a session of the legislature to pass an appropriation bill came from Representative Olin Hammock, of Randolph county.

"No situation in the history of this country or any state threatened with the fundamental concepts of democratic government has ever existed," he wrote to Senator Chapman.

Speculation continued over a secret session of a group of senators in Macon Sunday but none attending would comment. The Macon Telegraph said no definite proposal was taken and no definite action was taken.

Governor Talmadge has steadfastly held he will call no extra session. Legality of a self-convened assembly was in doubt.

Lawyers pointed out that two decisions, directly opposite, had been rendered. A New York ruling said such a session was unconstitutional while an opinion rendered in Oklahoma branded it unconstitutional.

State Senator H. Dixon Smith, of Columbus, who has announced as a candidate for the house in representative, said if he were elected he would seek passage of a constitutional amendment making it possible for the assembly to convene upon petition of two-thirds of the members of both houses.

2 POPULAR STUDENTS NAMED AT UNIVERSITY

ATHENS, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—John Bond, of Toccoa, and Miss Jane McKinnon, of Brunswick, were named today as the University of Georgia's most popular students in an annual senior round-table election.

Second place winners were Harry Baxter, of Ashburn, and Miss Ellen Star Davis, of Gainesville.

Bond was co-captain of the 1935 football team and is president of the Sigma Nu social fraternity and various honor groups. Miss Davis is former president of the Phi Mu social sorority, and vice president of the Y. W. C. A.

ROSENWALD AVOIDS INHERITANCE TAX

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—The receipt of a bequest of about $2,350,000 in securities by William Rosenwald, of Philadelphia, was disclosed today in securities commission reports.

The securities were $7,647 shares of common stock of Sears, Roebuck & Co. The donor was not identified. Gifts of securities—which reached a total of $100,000,000 in 1935 as their holders avoided higher taxes by making the gifts before the taxes became effective on January 1—were few in January.

Niagara Again Normal.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 3.—(AP)—The flow over Niagara Falls was back to normal today. Unusual cold weather dried the falls January 23 and the flow of water did not start again until early last week. Recent mild weather brought the flow to normal.

Hamilton Predicts Aid From Voters of State

Declaring he was firm in his belief that "the people of Georgia would remedy the present situation in the coming gubernatorial election," George B. Hamilton, ousted state treasurer, spoke before the Deatur Civic League at its regular monthly meeting last night.

Hamilton, removed from office by Governor Talmadge when he refused to aid in running the state without an appropriation bill, said that he felt he was within the law in his action.

"I am leaving my case in the hands of the people of Georgia, and I am sure they will judge things in their true light," the ousted official declared.

Hamilton was introduced by John E. Varner, Deatur attorney. The meeting was presided over by John W. Jones, president of the league.

GREAT BRITAIN PLANS TO ENTER ARMS RACE

The new scheme over a three-year period. Supplementary estimates will be announced later to finance the part of the rearmament program to be carried out within the regular estimates.

Much of the increase in regular estimates was due to the royal air force expansion program, on which the government embarked last year and which already is seriously taxing the capacity of every military aircraft factory in Britain.

To build two battleships. Despite this, big increases in fighting strength, together with reserve planes and pilots, were announced along with the disclosure that Britain plans shortly to build two battleships, an aircraft carrier, five cruisers and to replace steadily overage destroyers.

Experts estimated that the heavier vessels projected for 1936 and 1937 will cost at least 40,000,000 pounds, 6,000 men, while four army infantry battalions will be raised.

The most important army plans, however, involve modernization and reorganization of coast guard and anti-aircraft defenses and the reconditioning of territorial, or national guards, to man these defenses at home when necessary.

Industry is to be organized so that it can rapidly be changed from commercial production to war production in case of necessity. Government armament factories will be extended or duplicated.

The magnitude of the government program in the field of armaments and official quarters.

Members of parliament and representatives of every embassy and legation in London were seated early in the day studying the text.

TWO FIRES CLAIM FIVE PERSONS' LIVES

SHARPSBURG, Ky., March 3.—(AP)—Trapped by flames in their second-floor home near there, two children burned to death today and their mother died a few hours later at the home of a relative in Mount Sterling.

The victims were Mrs. Armande Sellers, 30, and Robert Lee, 4, and Elmer Clay Sellers, 6. They lived above a store.

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—(UP)—Trapped in the upper story of their blazing home, Amanda and Tony Garcia, cousins, 7 and 9 years old, were burned to death today. Mrs. Felicia Esteve, 60, grandmother of the boys, was burned and suffered a broken arm when a stairway down which she was fleeing collapsed.

POLICEMAN BROADCASTS APPEAL FOR PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—Howard M. Overstreet, who defied a policeman's uniform so he could run for the democratic presidential nomination against Franklin D. Roosevelt, plunked $25 on the line tonight to tell the radio audience why it ought to vote for him.

The $25 gave him 15 minutes on station WOL, which only has power enough to serve the city of Washington, which has no vote, but which didn't bother Overstreet.

He was going so well at the end of the 15 minutes that he almost had to give himself a ticket for parking overtime.

Officer Overstreet resigned from the Washington force two weeks ago after a meritorious career of nabbing robbers in the second ward to run for president.

'T-Men' Are Selected in Ohio City To Curb Wave of Auto Accidents

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 3.—(AP)—Two hundred picked "T-Men"—volunteers selected to observe and report traffic violations—went to work in Columbus today. They were named by officials seeking to head off a wave of automobile accidents expected to follow dismissal of nearly half the city's policemen.

Among supporters of the plan were the Columbus Motor Club and Safety Director Harry E. French, who was forced to lay off almost half the policemen and firemen because of a crisis in the city's finances.

BANKS ENTER COURTS ON STATE FINANCES

800,000 in highway certificates due March 25 the Governor Monday ordered them paid in advance of that date. However, the courts are proceeding with plans to hear a petition seeking to enjoin use of any money intended to pay these certificates despite the Governor's order.

The suits of the two banks filed yesterday are directed against Daniel, State Treasurer George B. Hamilton and Carlton Mobley, the Governor's executive secretary who has been directed by Talmadge to take over the funds in the various institutions which have declined to recognize Daniel as the legal treasurer.

Hearing has been set for 9 o'clock Saturday morning in the courtroom of Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court.

Inasmuch as the case is one involving the state, it will be heard by a three-judge bench composed of Judge Humphries, Judge Virgil B. Moore and Judge Hugh M. Dorsey.

In the meanwhile, the Governor was restrained yesterday in an order by Judge Dorsey against making any further demands on the banks until the case is heard.

The banks set out that both Daniel and Hamilton are claiming charge of the funds and that Mobley had presented to them the Governor's order directing the money be turned over to him.

The petitions set out that the state has $1,528,765 in the Citizens & Southern Bank and $218,994 in the First National. It is understood part of the total on deposit in the C. & S. is federal highway money, although this is not brought out in the suit.

The Fulton National has $895,000 in state general funds on deposit and an undetermined amount of federal highway money.

Hamilton to file plea. Hamilton was in conference with his attorneys yesterday and is expected to file pleadings in the case at once.

While the banks were preparing their petitions, Governor Talmadge held a long conference with W. S. Mann, of McRae, who is expected to be named a special assistant attorney-general and handle both Daniel's and Mobley's pleadings in the suits.

Representing General M. J. Yeomans has announced he does not believe the present setup legal and he is expected to take no part in the litigation growing out of the case.

The petition of the First National was filed by John K. Otley as president of the institution, while L. L. Galloway, of the president, is representing the Citizens & Southern. Brandon, Hynds & Tindall are the attorneys for the First National, while Alston, Alston, Foster & Moore are representing the C. & S. Who will represent the Fulton National has not been announced. Marion Smith, of the bank's general counsel, is representing Hamilton and will act for him in the case.

Text of Petitions. The petitions ask the court for the following:

"That this court issue a rule directing the defendants to show cause before this court why they should not be required to interplead and set up their respective claims to the aforesaid sum on deposit with the petitioners."

"That upon such hearing the defendants herein be ordered to interplead herein and set up their respective claims to said sum and that the order be passed permitting petitioner to pay said sum of money into this honorable court and be discharged of further liability in respect thereto and to set up the defendants."

"That the court direct the clerk of the court to issue a second original in this case to be served on J. B. Daniel and Carlton Mobley who are representing the C. & S. Who will represent the Fulton National has not been announced. Marion Smith, of the bank's general counsel, is representing Hamilton and will act for him in the case."

"That the defendants and each of them be restrained and enjoined from making further demands on the petitioner for disbursement of the aforesaid sum of money until the court has rendered its decision in the matter of the petitioners' claims to the aforesaid sum of money on deposit with the petitioners."

"That process issue directed to defendants requiring them to be and appear at the next term of this court to answer to the prayers of this petitioners."

"That the defendants, and each of them, be restrained and enjoined from selling any of the bonds of petitioner deposited to secure the payment of the aforesaid sum on deposit with the petitioners."

"That petitioner have such other and further relief as may be appropriate."

Wants to Avoid Courts. Observers saw the Governor's executive order an effort to keep the bank out of court. They pointed out that with the executive order issued decreeing the banks no longer state depositories the Governor could have directed the defendants to show cause before this court why they should not be required to interplead and set up their respective claims to the aforesaid sum on deposit with the petitioners.

The Talmadge and Marietta banks are understood to have been included in the executive order because they, too, have formally declined to pay out their state funds.

One angle of the situation was clarified yesterday when A. L. Henson, state veterans' service officer, announced he had paid all Confederate pension checks to the veterans deposited by him in the National City Bank of Rome, one of the institutions doing business with the Governor's de facto treasury.

Henson said he had placed $80,000 in the Rome bank, and had drawn the pension checks on that account which is in his name as veteran service officer.

"All of the pension checks are being paid from the account," he said.

The $80,000 placed in the Rome bank was understood to have been highway money withdrawn from the Atlanta banks.

To Accept Service. The Governor said yesterday that all officials serving under him would accept service of any court summons.

He said he would accept service of the Cobb superior court, where the highway litigation is pending, yesterday serving a subpoena on Daniel, director of the highway department, and on the Metropolitan Building March 10 to give testimony regarding the suit of W. V. Lance, of Gainesville, holder of highway certificates, against the highway department to prevent diversion of the highway cash. Daniel said he would appear.

The de facto treasurer also was served with a subpoena duces tecum which required him to produce a warrant for $139,000 which he paid last week to the state board of control, the presumption being that highway funds were used to pay the warrant.

The Clark county board of commissioners announced yesterday at Athens they would immediately accept payment of $30,000 due it from the highway department. The Governor made a similar announcement Monday that the certificates would be paid on demand and acting under instructions from the highway board, F. P. Van Story, secretary of the highway department, notified all county commissions their certificates would be paid on presentation.

The three new depositories announced yesterday were the Metter Banking Company of Metter, the Citizens Bank of Butler and the Farmers Bank of Blythe.

At Brunswick the National Bank of Brunswick announced it would honor checks signed by Daniel and it is presumed the Governor will immediately commission this bank a depository, making ten which have recognized the de facto regime. The Brunswick bank's announcement was made by C. H. Sheldon, president of the bank.

NEW TREASURY OFFICE OPENED BY HAMILTON

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton yesterday opened offices at 726 Hurt building in the city, announcing that he would carry on the business of the state until such time as he regains his office at the capitol. Hamilton was ousted last week by Governor Talmadge who named J. B. Daniel, of LaGrange, as treasurer.

Comptroller-General William B. Harrison, ousted along with Hamilton, is maintaining offices at the Wincoff hotel.

MILD, SPRING WEATHER EXPECTED TO CONTINUE

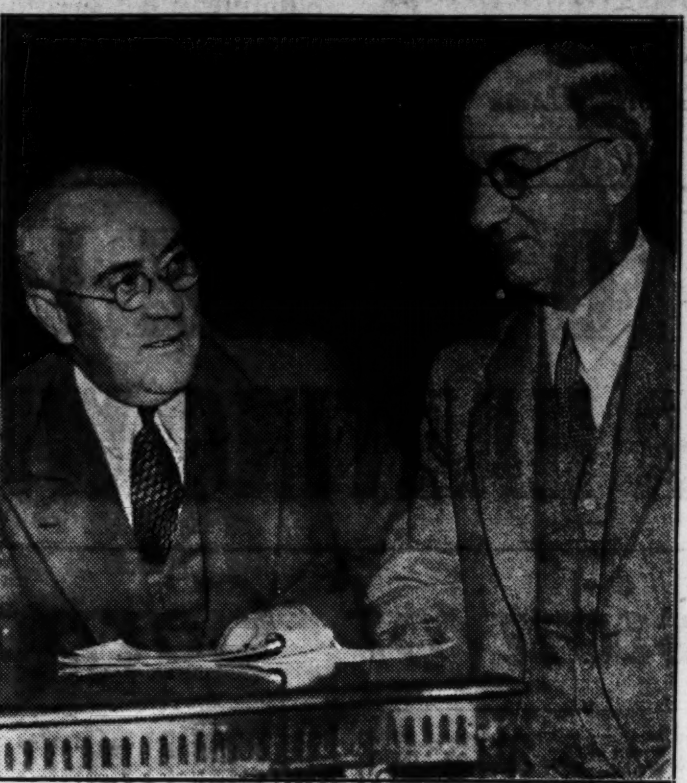

Tuesday's clear, mild weather will repeat itself today, according to the weather bureau.

Bright sunshine and the same pleasant temperatures will prevail, he says.

The rain has ended and spring-like weather is all we can foresee, said Chief Forecaster George W. Minding yesterday. The rain he referred to was the showers during Monday night.

Yesterday the mercury started at 48 and climbed to 68 during the day. Today the mercury will start at 60 and climb possibly a few degrees higher.

Roosevelt To Push Button Today To Create Norris Dam Reservoir

NORRIS, Tenn., March 3.—(AP)—Waters of the tiny Clinch and Powell rivers, tumbling between mountain-sides to the broad Tennessee 80 miles below, will begin piling up tomorrow behind the massive Norris dam to create one of the world's largest reservoirs.

It will mark the official completion of the $38,000,000 dam, built by the Tennessee Valley Authority as a unit in the planned development and control of the Tennessee river and its tributaries.

A great celebration is planned for the occasion.

At 1 p. m. President Roosevelt will press a telegraph key at the White House, sounding a siren on top of the dam. At the signal workmen will begin lowering sluiceway gates to block night openings in the dam through which the Clinch river now surges.

Standing on the river bank below the concrete structure, which towers 263 feet, a large crowd will hear speeches by Arthur E. Morgan, U. S. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Others on the program are J. Frank Porter, of Columbia, representing Governor Hill McAllister, of Tennessee; George Fort Milton, Chattanooga publisher; Thomas H. Allen, of Memphis, and Mayor James Elmore, of Knoxville.

The dam, started a little over two years ago, is complete with the exception of the roadway across its top and the power house. Two 60,000-horsepower generators are to be installed and after the lake is filled water will be turned through penstocks to turbines to generate electricity.

The last of 3,500 village and farm families were abandoning the 34,200-acre reservoir section today. Among them was Manny Miller, aged mountaineer, who planned two years ago to take nearly a hundred of his kin-folks and colonize in Brazil. Miller's forefathers came from North Carolina and settled in the section 100 years ago. Miller and several of his relatives bought property near Sparta, Tennessee.

ROAD BOARD ASKS BIDS ON $1,250,000 JOBS

ly is one which provides another step toward completion of the Tri-States road in Rabun county. This would build a new bridge over the Chattooga river.

A second project of interest to Atlanta would provide for a new bridge over the Seaboard Air Line tracks on the Cherokee bridge road, a section of the new Atlanta-Buford highway.

The board also called for bids on the repaving of that section of the Atlanta-Newman highway between Glenn street and McCall's crossing. The section is slightly less than half a mile long.

Other projects to be included in the letting follow:

Columbia County—2,296 miles of graded road and one bridge on the Lincoln-Augusta road.

Macon County—Overhead bridge and approaches at A. B. & C. railroad crossing on Hawkinsville-Montezuma road.

Oconee County, South Carolina—One bridge over Chattooga river on the Tri-State road.

Coffee County—5,782 miles of graded road and two bridges on the Douglas-McRae road.

Coweta County—Overhead bridge and approaches at the A. & W. P. railroad crossing on the Moreland-Newman road.

Jenkins County—3,006 miles of graded road and one bridge on the Grayson-Sylvester road.

Turner County—Four bridges on the Ashburn-Sylvester road.

Upson County—Bridge on the Thompson-Yatesville road.

Spalding County—Bridge on the Griffin-Fayetteville road.

Tift County—3,545 miles of graded road on the Sylvester-Tifton road.

Troup County—8,000 miles of paved road on the LaGrange-Franklin road.

Stephens County—7,840 miles of paved road and widening one bridge on the Toccoa-Ellerton road.

A state-wide movement to seek release of Georgia's federal highway funds direct to the cities and counties got under way yesterday as it became apparent that highway work is liable to be at a standstill all summer.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, speaking for business in general, asked an end to the state financial controversy either by recourse to the general assembly or to the courts.

Clarke county and the city of Columbus were the first to take definite action. They are acting through its county board and Columbus through its city commission.

In Washington, Senator Walter F. George said if the federal government cannot be adjusted speedily, he would ask the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to release to the counties and the cities that part of the federal fund that does not have to be matched.

The Federal Bureau of Public Roads already has ruled that no federal highway funds will be made available to the state until the courts have determined whether George B. Hamilton, the ousted treasurer, or J. B. Daniel, the de facto treasurer, is the legal holder of the office.

Russell May Ad. Estimating he had received about 40 letters suggesting the county-city plan, Senator Russell said, "of course I am willing to take any step to see that Georgia does not lose its proportionate share of the federal road money."

L. E. Boykin, bureau law clerk, questioned the legal status of the treasurer installed by Talmadge. The state treasurer handles the federal road funds sent to Georgia.

The suggestion that the millions be disbursed through cities and counties was put forward last year when the federal bureau impounded the money allotted to the state upon a contention that the Georgia road building organization was inadequate to undertake the construction program.

At the time it was indicated the bureau was considering the method of breaking the program delay. Ultimately the dispute was adjusted, and expenditures were resumed through the usual state channels.

The state has approximately $17,000,000 to its credit with the Federal Road Bureau. Of this $13,168,000 must be matched by state funds. Reports from Washington say this will be lost.

GOVERNMENTAL COSTS OF RELIEF ARE SHOWN

U. S. Spent $21,650,541 in Georgia While State Paid Nothing.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—A preliminary report on the cost of direct relief in 1935, indicating that the federal government's share of the bill varied from 99.7 per cent in North Carolina to 35 per cent in Rhode Island, was made public today by Harry L. Hopkins.

Officials explained reports for the last quarter of the year were not complete, but estimated cost of the 1935 dole at $1,826,906,008, of which the federal government contributed $1,800,830,185, or 98.5 per cent.

Both the total cost and the federal government's share increased during the year, which saw the start of the present $4,000,000,000 work relief program. The dole cost $1,476,567,194 in 1934, of which the federal government put up 72.1 per cent.

The preliminary report, which said states supplied 32.2 per cent of the dole cost, and local communities 13.3 per cent, included:

CONCLUSION SOUGHT ON ELLENBOGEN BILL

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—A house subcommittee tomorrow will try to reach some conclusion with regard to the Ellenbogen textile control bill.

An authoritative source said tonight it was unlikely any control regulatory bill would be reported until the courts had decided legality of the Guffey coal act.

Chairman Keller, democrat, Illinois, of the subcommittee which recently conducted hearings on the Ellenbogen bill to set up a little NRA for the textile industry, is anxious to have Representative Ellenbogen, democrat, Pennsylvania, and Gregory Hankin, of the NRA legal staff, work out a substitute measure.

Ellenbogen, however, said tonight he was not relaxing his efforts to have his own bill reported, and that he had no intention of conferring with Hankin to draw a substitute.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—The body of Dr. Ralph W. Ellis, 44, medical director of Clark University, was found in a bathtub at his home late today.

Medical examiner Dr. Frederick H. Baker said he had committed suicide by opening arteries in his throat and wrists and stabbing himself in the heart with a surgical scalpel.

MRS. BARRYMORE WILL SEE PICTURE

Actress and Patients To See Picture at Warm Springs Today.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Dolores Costello Barrymore, actress, was here today to attend the world premiere of her latest picture, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," at the Warm Springs Foundation tomorrow.

The picture in which Miss Barrymore co-stars with young Freddie Bartholomew, will be shown to the children who are patients at the foundation at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow with a second showing at 7:45 p. m. for adults.

Mrs. Barrymore came directly from California. She arrived by train at LaGrange last night and motored to Warm Springs, a distance of 35 miles.

CONFEREES REDUCE FUNDS FOR REA BILL

Proposed Spending Under Measure Is 420 Million; Roosevelt Pleased.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—A conference of administration aides and Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, today clipped the latter's billion-dollar rural electrification bill more than in half.

The proposed spending under the measure was cut to $420,000,000 over a 10-year period in a conference between Norris and a group which included Chairman Jesse H. Jones, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, and Daniel Bell, acting director of the budget.

President Roosevelt, who did not sit on the conference, expressed to press conference his satisfaction with the bill in its revised form. The President is currently engaged in budgetary revision and revenue-raising efforts.

With the agreement in hand, Norris headed back to Capitol Hill, saying he probably would bring the measure up on the senate floor tomorrow. Senate discussion of the measure in its original form was dropped temporarily last week to seek an accord between proponents of a billion-dollar program and those who believed the figure excessive.

An revised, the bill would provide $500,000,000 a year for the first two years, the money to come from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, thus keeping it directly out of the annual budget.

For the remaining eight years, a $400,000,000 annual expenditure would be allowed. The original bill asked $100,000,000 a year for 10 years.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Mrs. H. L. White, 23, died here today after several days' illness. Before her marriage she was Miss Clemmie Silvey, of Washington, D. C.

Besides her husband, she is survived by an infant son, Carl Jr., two sisters, Miss Alma Silvey and Mrs. D. N. Pardee, of Washington; three brothers, P. H. Silvey, of Washington; M. S. Silvey, of Port Valley; W. R. Silvey, of Jersey City, N. J.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 11 o'clock at the Winterville Baptist church with interment in the local cemetery.

FARM HEADS DEPART TO LAUNCH NEW BILL

Wallace, Aids Leave for Memphis Meeting to Start Program.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Major executives of the AAA headed for Memphis and Chicago today to launch the new $500,000,000 soil conservation-subsidy program at regional meetings of farm representatives.

Representatives of the soil-conservation service, the Agriculture Department, the office of statisticians and economists accompanied them. The three-day conferences will open Thursday.

A report of the AAA comptroller made public before the delegations entered showed that $394,821,074 was paid to approximately 3,000,000 farmers in 1935 under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act.

There are about 6,000,000 farmers in the nation. All are eligible to share in subsidies under the new farm relief plan, but officials forecast individual payments would be smaller.

At the regional meetings, AAA officials are expected to disclose administrative details whereby $500,000,000 will be paid in federal subsidies to farmers for diverting land to soil conservation and other economic uses.

DR. MYRON ALLEN ILL AT JEFFERSON

Hoschton Physician Stricken in Jail While Awaiting Trial.

JEFFERSON, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—Dr. Myron B. Allen, Hoschton physician, charged with the death of his wife, is ill in the Jefferson county jail here and doctors have diagnosed his case as pneumonia.

The Hoschton physician is in jail here awaiting trial. The sheriff said he had not seen Dr. Allen for three days, due to his own illness.

SLANDER SUIT CHARGES ARE DENIED BY AIMEE

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(AP)—Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson, through her attorney, today denied all charges in the $400,000 slander suit filed by Vivian Denton, former Angeles temple publicity writer.

"A figure of the imagination," said the lawyer, Jacob Moldel, of the charges that Mrs. McPherson called Miss Denton "a brat" and "a devil out of hell."

Miss Denton told police she took poison last month because of Mrs. McPherson's alleged remarks about her.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie T. Martin, former Atlanta, who died Sunday at her home in Lexington, Ky., at the age of 77 years, were held at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

The Rev. Lee Allgood officiated and burial was in Crest Lawn cemetery.

Coweta Grand Jury Requests Solicitor-General To Run.

NEWNAN, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—The grand jury of Coweta county, now in session, in their present recommendations, urged that the people of the county elect William Y. Atkinson, solicitor-general of the state, to become a candidate for Governor of Georgia.

The following is a copy of the resolution in view of the unsettled political situation in this state and a need of a man at this time in whose constructive leadership in public affairs the people could look to with faith and confidence, this grand jury desires to submit to Hon. William Y. Atkinson, of Newnan, Ga., the request that he become a candidate for the office of Governor of Georgia.

"Knowing him to be a man of high character, a fair, efficient and forceful administrator, a learned and able lawyer, a student of public affairs, and a public official who looks upon public office as a public trust; we believe that the people of this state will recognize in him the same sterling qualities of citizenship and leadership as do the people of the Coweta judicial circuit."

QUICK ACTION URGED ON REFUND MEASURE

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, said today that the people of Georgia should act quickly on his resolution to reimburse cotton farmers for taxes paid under the Bankhead act and for money they spent for tax-exemption certificates.

Vinson introduced the resolution yesterday. Senator George had announced previously that he would introduce a similar bill in the senate.

Pulp Mills Oppose Forest Fires, Crisp Leader Tells Lions Club

Interests Seeking Southern Timber Are Shy of Localities That "Burn Woods," Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Says in Cordele Speech.

CORDELE, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—Communities desiring to attract paper or pulp mills will find industrialists frown on forest fires in their areas, says J. B. Anderson, secretary of the Crisp County Chamber of Commerce.

Anderson, discussing his efforts to attract a paper and pulp mill to this city, at a meeting of the Cordele Lions Club, said south Georgia communities would find forest fires a problem if they are fortunate enough to get executives of northern industries visit their communities to make an investigation.

He said the executive of one of the northern mills visited Crisp county recently. While riding along one of the country roads, he observed that a strip about three miles had been burned on each side of the highway. The mill executive, he said, was outspoken in his criticism of such practices and said his company would not spend $2,000,000 on a mill to find out if the woods would be protected.

The chamber secretary said he assured the visitor everything possible would be done to discourage future woods burning.

Anderson said he was expecting visits from other paper mill executives during the month.

He said the visiting mill executive stressed that woods burning kills future production of timber and turpentine.

Anderson said that on a trip of his own toward Fort Valley, a boy in the road stopped him for a ride. When they had traveled about a mile, it was noticed the woods had been burned. Anderson said the boy explained: "Pa is burning the woods; he is killing rabbits today."

JAPANESE WAR LORDS RESIGN FROM COUNCIL

Feeling of Responsibility for Bloody Military Coup Is Cited by Seven.

TOKYO, March 3.—(AP)—Seven leaders of the Japanese army, including two mentioned as the possible next premier, tendered their resignations tonight from the supreme war council because they felt indirectly responsible for last Wednesday's bloody military coup.

The seven generals asked General Yoshiyuki Kawashima, minister of war, to submit their joint resignations to Emperor Hirohito tomorrow. This he is expected to do.

The army leaders explained they felt responsible for conditions in the army which had made the revolt possible. About 1,000 troops, led by 24 officers, assassinated four government officials and for four days refused to surrender government buildings in the heart of Tokyo.

The generals were Sanjuro Hayashi and Sadao Araki, both mentioned as possibilities for premier; Nobuyuki Abe, Jinzaburo Mazaki, Giichi Nishi, Kenkichi Uryeda, and Count Juichi Kerauchi.

If the resignations are accepted only the four imperial princes, Kanin, Nashimoto, Higashikuni and Asaka, would remain in the cabinet.

Mazaki and Araki are firm nationalists, while Generals Hayashi, Uryeda and Abe are known as moderates.

In an unprecedented situation, the seven generals asked General Yoshiyuki Kawashima, minister of war, to submit their joint resignations to Emperor Hirohito tomorrow. This he is expected to do.

PHARR FEE ACTION EXPECTED UP TODAY

Longino and Ragsdale Like to Discuss Case at County Commission Session.

Echoes of a suit filed by a taxpayer against County Attorney Ralph Pharr and the county commissioners will be heard today at the county board holds its regular March session during the height of the political campaign.

Commissioners George F. Longino and J. A. Ragsdale will probably bring up the Pharr fee case this afternoon in another effort to force the majority faction to rescind the Pharr contract under which he received a commission of 20 per cent for collection of $150,000 from the Coca-Cola International Corporation last December.

"We have contended since we first learned the true facts that a fraud has been perpetrated upon the commissioners and if the court action cannot be maintained, then we will sponsor other appropriate moves to recover the fee of $21,204 for the taxpayers of Fulton county," said Longino and Ragsdale yesterday.

Before the suit was filed, Longino said he would demand first that the Pharr contract be cancelled and if that failed, he would demand the county commissioners themselves replace the money.

The minority members of the board called attention yesterday to the fact that the public of the alleged fraud first, by letter to County Attorney Pharr and then to the commission and the grand jury.

Longino and Ragsdale said yesterday they have not yet been served with a copy of the suit filed by a taxpayer in superior court last week.

The taxpayers petition requested the courts to cancel Pharr's contract and order the return of the fee.

Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman, Commissioners Edwin F. Johnson, Ed L. Almond, Longino and Ragsdale were named with Pharr in the suit.

The Pharr fee matter is the only one of importance scheduled to come up before the board which meets at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Barney Oldfield Pupil Must Learn To Drive

SAULZE STE. MARIE, Mich., March 3.—(AP)—Norman E. Messinger, who clung precariously to the running board of "old 900" back in 1902, welding an oil can and pliers as Barney Oldfield established a world's automobile speed record of 60 miles an hour, suffered his greatest humiliation today. Given his first traffic ticket, he was sentenced to drivers' school.

"I would rather pay a $1,000 fine," he pleaded before Traffic Judge John N. Fegan. "Barney Oldfield taught me to drive 52 years ago, and this is my first ticket."

To Judge Fegan, however, a right turn against a red light still remained a traffic violation, and Messinger must join a class of minor offenders and learn anew the rudiments of red lights and traffic regulations.

CHILD HURT AS CAR HITS PARKED AUTO

7-Year-Old Girl Is Taken to Grady in Serious Condition.

Injured in a collision between the car in which she was riding and a parked automobile at Sunset and Kennedy streets at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Kathryn, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Watts, of 572 Simmons street, was reported in a serious condition at Grady hospital last night.

Hospital attaches said the child was suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations about the face and body.

Kathryn, together with her mother and 9-year-old brother, Raymond, was said to have been riding with a neighbor whose name was not learned. Raymond suffered lacerations and was dismissed after treatment. Mrs. Watts was dismissed, as was the driver of the machine.

Dan Boyd Richards, 5, of 60 Adams avenue, who was hurt when he fell from a toy wagon Monday, was reported in "fair" condition at Grady hospital last night.

OLEO TAX CASE SENT TO SUPREME COURT

A suit seeking to have the state tax on oleomargarine declared unconstitutional was appealed to the Georgia supreme court yesterday.

L. H. Coy originally brought the action in the Jeff Davis superior court against Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture, a resident of that county. Coy alleged that the tax of 10 cents a pound on oleomargarine was unconstitutional because it exempted products made of peanut oil and other Georgia products, but taxed oleomargarine made of coconut oil and imported products. He appealed the case after it had been dismissed in the superior court by Judge Gordon Knox.

SAVANTS WILL MEET IN CONFERENCE HERE

Leading Educators of Nation To Attend Southeastern Convention.

Leading educators and scholars of the country will attend the southeastern conference of the Progressive Education Association, to be held at the Biltmore hotel March 13 and 14. The emotional, intellectual and physical development of the child, as a basis for education, will be the theme of the conference.

Dr. Ralph Wager, of Emory University, general chairman, announced that there will be five departmental meetings, each to be led by an expert in the particular field. Panel meetings will be held for discussion of elementary schools, secondary schools and colleges, teacher preparation, music and the social sciences.

Among the distinguished educators who will speak are Dr. Caroline Zachry, of New York; Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, of the Child Development Institute, New York; Dean F. F. Bradshaw, of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Homer Rainey, director of the American youth commission; Wilford Aiken, of Ohio State University; Dr. W. M. Munich, and Dr. John A. Rice, both of Black Mountain College, North Carolina.

Many Atlanta leaders in education also will address the conference. Lewis H. Johnson, of Agnes Scott College, will lead the discussion on music as a means of creative expression. Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of city schools, and W. M. Rainey, superintendent of DeKalb county schools, will lead the groups considering individual development of children.

Other Atlantans who will deliver addresses include Dr. Harvey W. Cost, president of Emory University; Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College; Dr. H. Hunter, assistant superintendent of city schools; E. S. Cook, president of the board of education, and Dean Goodrich C. White, of Emory.

Arrangements for entertaining the visitors are being made by W. J. Scott, chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Lovett and Mrs. E. H. Pew.

MEDICAL SOCIETY HONORS DR. JONES

Tribute Is Paid Late Atlanta
Dermatologist as Funeral Services Are Conducted.

Funeral services for Dr. Francis G. Jones, prominent Atlanta dermatologist and member of several distinguished southern families, were held at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Dr. J. Sproule Lyons officiated, and pallbearers were Dr. Calhoun Johnson, Dr. H. M. Loeke, Dr. J. Martin, Dr. J. D. Mangert, Dr. Fleming Spearman, Dr. Steve Brown, Dr. Fred Felchler and Dr. James B. Wooten. Members of the Fulton County Medical Society, the Piedmont Lodge of Masons and the Phi Rho Sigma fraternity, formerly Chi Zeta Chi medical fraternity, of which Dr. Jones was a former national president, formed honorary escorts.

Dr. Jones, who died Monday at a private hospital, was known as one of the foremost skin specialists in the south. For many years before specializing he had conducted a general practice.

He was a grandson of Major Andrew Maybank Jones, of the Confederate army and former Liberty county planter, and of Judge James M. Baker, of Jacksonville, senator to the Confederate congress. His parents, who survive him, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Jones Sr., of Atlanta.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, the former Miss Lucia Jeter, whom he married in 1911; a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Medlock; a son, Francis G. Jones Jr., and a brother, R. H. Jones Jr., prominent Atlanta attorney.

PLAYGROUNDS SOUGHT BY TENTH WARD GROUP

Playground and school facilities for Sylvan Hills and Capitol View communities will be urged by the Tenth Ward Civic League this year, Ernest J. Brewer, new president, stated yesterday. The league will work with city and WPA authorities to insure that Adair, Ragsdale and Sylvan Hills schools be improved in accordance with bond issue pledges, he said.

Chairmen of committees include James L. Beavers, Mrs. J. H. Ernest, Ed Cook, Mrs. E. F. Cavallieri, T. E. White, R. A. McCalliff and P. E. Davenport. Mr. Davenport is vice president; J. L. Richardson, secretary, and W. M. Aycock, treasurer.

MOTHER CONFESSES

SLAYING DAUGHTER, 4
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Clara Houser, 35-year-old miner's wife, was quoted by county detectives and state police today as saying she beat her daughter, 4, with a hammer. The child died in a hospital.

Chief of County Detectives Richard Powell announced the confession and said a sanity commission will be named to examine the woman. She was charged with murder.

South Fulton Hears
County Candidates

Longino-Ragsdale Rally Is
Held at Palmetto; Minor
Tilts in Other Areas.

The political war front moved to the southern end of Fulton county last night, where a Longino-Ragsdale rally was held at Palmetto, but minor battles were carried on in several sections of the city as candidates and their representatives continued campaigning for the March 11 primary.

Impressed with the shortness of time, aspirants are indulging in feverish activity and seldom does a candidate miss making two or more platform speeches each day.

Several hundred persons heard Commissioners George F. Longino and J. A. Ragsdale and their opponents, Ellis Barrett and Roy LeCraw last night.

Charges Are Hurlled.

The incumbent minority members of the board, girding themselves for the county commission board meeting this afternoon, charged the majority faction with unbusinesslike administration of the county government. They promised to continue their fight against the policies of the controlling bloc.

Barrett and LeCraw, denying any allegiance to the majority faction, asserted they would bring harmony to the board.

A development in the race for clerk of the superior court came yesterday as W. E. Honkins, secretary of the Four-O-Six Club, denied he is running with Ed G. Decker, who is opposing Clerk J. W. Simmons, incumbent.

Since my name appears on the list of deputies of Ed G. Decker, candidate for clerk of the superior court," he said, "I feel it is only fair to my friends and voters to state that I am not running with Decker on any other ticket. I want to thank all my friends who have offered me support, and this statement will leave them free to vote for the candidate of their choice."

School Meet Held.

A. C. Corbett, third aspirant for the clerkship, spoke at a meeting held for him by friends at the Highland school. Both Decker and Simmons also made addresses last night.

J. C. (Mott) Aldridge, candidate for sheriff, was host to other candidates at a meeting at the Bass Junior High school last night and tonight will sponsor a meeting in Haverhill, to which he invites all office-seekers.

Herbert E. Choate, lawyer, spoke in behalf of the candidacy for re-election of Sheriff James I. Lowry, and tonight Shepard Bryan will make an address for the sheriff. Cal Cates and Harry T. Barfield, also running for sheriff, talked to voters yesterday in several speeches.

Judge Clarence Bell and Alderman Robert Carpenter, candidates to succeed Bell as judge of the municipal court, and Judge T. O. Hathcock and A. J. Hartley, candidates for Hathcock's post on the municipal court bench, also made addresses.

Longino and Ragsdale will appear at Haverhill tonight, as will most of the other office seekers.

LAST SERVICE HELD FOR J. A. KOVALSKI

Funeral services for John A. Kovalski, for nine years a member of the stereotype department of The Constitution, who was found shot to death yesterday morning in the bathroom of his home at 1128 Ogilthorpe avenue, S. W., were held at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon Co.

Kovalski was formerly associated with the Western Newspaper Union, first in Charlotte, N. C., where he was foreman of the W. N. U. stereotype department and later in Atlanta.

Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

ARCHAEOLOGY SOCIETY TO CONVENE SATURDAY

Development of the Indian mounds near Macon into the Old Ocmulgee Fields National Monument Park will be outlined before the Society for Archaeology at a meeting Saturday morning at Indian Springs, Richard W. Smith, secretary, announced yesterday. The business meeting will be followed by a trip to the mounds near the Ocmulgee river in Butts county.

The state archaeological society is not composed of archaeologists, according to Mr. Smith, but is a group of Georgians interested in preserving the Indian ruins formerly inhabiting the state. All interested in Indian lore are asked to attend Saturday's meeting, which will begin at 11 o'clock (central standard time). Further information may be obtained from the secretary at Walnut 9535.

LANG H. HOWE RITES ARE CONDUCTED HERE

Funeral services for Lang H. Howe, a resident of Atlanta for 40 years, a salesman for the Schwab Clothing Company, were held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the chapel of Blanchard Brothers.

Mr. Howe died Saturday at his residence, 291 Alaska avenue. Dr. J. Sproule Lyons officiated and burial was in the Baptist churchyard at Milner.

SOUTH FULTON HEARS COUNTY CANDIDATES

Longino-Ragsdale Rally Is
Held at Palmetto; Minor
Tilts in Other Areas.

The political war front moved to the southern end of Fulton county last night, where a Longino-Ragsdale rally was held at Palmetto, but minor battles were carried on in several sections of the city as candidates and their representatives continued campaigning for the March 11 primary.

Impressed with the shortness of time, aspirants are indulging in feverish activity and seldom does a candidate miss making two or more platform speeches each day.

Several hundred persons heard Commissioners George F. Longino and J. A. Ragsdale and their opponents, Ellis Barrett and Roy LeCraw last night.

Charges Are Hurlled.

The incumbent minority members of the board, girding themselves for the county commission board meeting this afternoon, charged the majority faction with unbusinesslike administration of the county government. They promised to continue their fight against the policies of the controlling bloc.

Barrett and LeCraw, denying any allegiance to the majority faction, asserted they would bring harmony to the board.

A development in the race for clerk of the superior court came yesterday as W. E. Honkins, secretary of the Four-O-Six Club, denied he is running with Ed G. Decker, who is opposing Clerk J. W. Simmons, incumbent.

Since my name appears on the list of deputies of Ed G. Decker, candidate for clerk of the superior court," he said, "I feel it is only fair to my friends and voters to state that I am not running with Decker on any other ticket. I want to thank all my friends who have offered me support, and this statement will leave them free to vote for the candidate of their choice."

School Meet Held.

A. C. Corbett, third aspirant for the clerkship, spoke at a meeting held for him by friends at the Highland school. Both Decker and Simmons also made addresses last night.

J. C. (Mott) Aldridge, candidate for sheriff, was host to other candidates at a meeting at the Bass Junior High school last night and tonight will sponsor a meeting in Haverhill, to which he invites all office-seekers.

Herbert E. Choate, lawyer, spoke in behalf of the candidacy for re-election of Sheriff James I. Lowry, and tonight Shepard Bryan will make an address for the sheriff. Cal Cates and Harry T. Barfield, also running for sheriff, talked to voters yesterday in several speeches.

Judge Clarence Bell and Alderman Robert Carpenter, candidates to succeed Bell as judge of the municipal court, and Judge T. O. Hathcock and A. J. Hartley, candidates for Hathcock's post on the municipal court bench, also made addresses.

Longino and Ragsdale will appear at Haverhill tonight, as will most of the other office seekers.

LAST SERVICE HELD FOR J. A. KOVALSKI

Funeral services for John A. Kovalski, for nine years a member of the stereotype department of The Constitution, who was found shot to death yesterday morning in the bathroom of his home at 1128 Ogilthorpe avenue, S. W., were held at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon Co.

Kovalski was formerly associated with the Western Newspaper Union, first in Charlotte, N. C., where he was foreman of the W. N. U. stereotype department and later in Atlanta.

Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

ARCHAEOLOGY SOCIETY TO CONVENE SATURDAY

Development of the Indian mounds near Macon into the Old Ocmulgee Fields National Monument Park will be outlined before the Society for Archaeology at a meeting Saturday morning at Indian Springs, Richard W. Smith, secretary, announced yesterday. The business meeting will be followed by a trip to the mounds near the Ocmulgee river in Butts county.

The state archaeological society is not composed of archaeologists, according to Mr. Smith, but is a group of Georgians interested in preserving the Indian ruins formerly inhabiting the state. All interested in Indian lore are asked to attend Saturday's meeting, which will begin at 11 o'clock (central standard time). Further information may be obtained from the secretary at Walnut 9535.

LANG H. HOWE RITES ARE CONDUCTED HERE

Funeral services for Lang H. Howe, a resident of Atlanta for 40 years, a salesman for the Schwab Clothing Company, were held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the chapel of Blanchard Brothers.

Mr. Howe died Saturday at his residence, 291 Alaska avenue. Dr. J. Sproule Lyons officiated and burial was in the Baptist churchyard at Milner.

MAJOR ITALIAN BANKS TAKEN OVER BY DUCE

Mussolini Reiterates Defiance of Sanctions; Lands U. S. Stand.

ROME, March 3.—(AP)—All big banks in Italy became public credit institutions today in the most sweeping banking decree ever passed in the kingdom.

The drastic step, one of many taken during the war emergency which are transforming Italy's industrial and economic life, was approved by the council of ministers.

To these ministers Premier Mussolini reiterated his defiance of League of Nations sanctions and praised the American neutrality policy as "a precious service to the cause of world peace."

News that the League committee of 15 in Geneva has drafted a peace appeal to the belligerents was received coolly here.

First glimpses of the appeal caused government officials to say they thought no ultimatum was involved. Should a closer study of the resolution disclose an ultimatum, high sources here are sure it Duce will reject the plea.

The cabinet transformed the Bank of Italy, the Credito Italiano, the Banca commerciale Italiana and the Banco di Roma—the four largest in the nation—from banks of the type of large American banks into institutions somewhat like the federal reserve banks, but more governmental in character.

These banks must now pay off stockholders and liquidate their reserves. They will be supervised by semi-state credit institutions of the type of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The Bank of Italy was given control over all policy and credit, in addition to continuing its function as a bank of emission.

PEACE APPEAL MADE TO SELASSIE, DUCE

The committee will meet again on March 10, day of the deadline.

Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, who announced yesterday the amendment is prepared to go ahead with an oil embargo, prepared to leave for London tonight or tomorrow. Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, of France, also is departing.

There were rumors of possible Franco-British talks within the next few days on the general European situation, particularly in view of Adolf Hitler's recent reported gesture to France. These rumors could not be confirmed, but neither were they flatly denied.

League officials said the resolution asking peace suggested that there be negotiations for an armistice as a preliminary to a peace conference to be held here.

Women should take only liquid laxatives

THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION

Measure-out a cleansing dose of liquid laxative. Take it on an empty stomach to suit the age, condition and individual need.

Tomorrow, take less! Let the regular muscular action of bowels do part of the work.

Use less each time until bowels regulate on their own.

SOME say there's no relief from constipation on account of the things we eat and the way we live. Today, it isn't true!

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes matters worse. And that isn't true.

Do what doctors do to relieve such a condition. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Text of Message by Roosevelt On U. S. Tax Legislation Needs

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's message to Congress asking tax legislation:

To the Congress of the United States:

On January 3, 1936, in my annual budget message to the Congress, I pointed out that without the item for relief of the budget was in balance. Since that time an important item of revenue has been eliminated through a decision of the supreme court, and an additional annual charge has been placed on the treasury through the enactment of the adjusted compensation payment act.

I said in my budget message:

"The many legislative acts creating the machinery for recovery have all predicated on two interdependent beliefs. First, the measures would immediately cause a great increase in the annual expenditures of the government—many of these expenditures, however, in the form of loans which would ultimately return to the treasury. Second, as a result of the simultaneous attack on the many fronts I have indicated, the receipts of the government would rise sharply and thereby greatly increase expenditures for the purposes stated, coupled with rising values and the stopping of losses, would over a period of years, thereby reduce federal expenditures. The increase in revenues would ultimately meet and pass the declining cost of relief."

The many legislative acts creating the machinery for recovery have all predicated on two interdependent beliefs. First, the measures would immediately cause a great increase in the annual expenditures of the government—many of these expenditures, however, in the form of loans which would ultimately return to the treasury. Second, as a result of the simultaneous attack on the many fronts I have indicated, the receipts of the government would rise sharply and thereby greatly increase expenditures for the purposes stated, coupled with rising values and the stopping of losses, would over a period of years, thereby reduce federal expenditures. The increase in revenues would ultimately meet and pass the declining cost of relief."

POLICY CONFIRMED IN ACTUAL PRACTICE

"This policy adopted in the spring of 1933 has been confirmed in actual practice by the treasury figures of 1934, 1935, and by the estimates for the fiscal years of 1936 and 1937.

"There is today no doubt of the fundamental soundness of the policy of 1933. If we proceed along the path we have followed and with the results we shall continue our successful progress during the coming year."

If we are to maintain this clear and sound policy, it is incumbent upon us to make good to the federal treasury both the loss of revenue caused by the increased expenditures caused by the adjusted compensation payment act. I emphasize that adherence to consistent policy calls for such action.

BREAKDOWN OF FIGURE AFTER COURT RULING

To be specific: The supreme court decision adversely affected the budget in an amount of $12,000,000 during the fiscal year 1936 and the fiscal year 1937. This figure is arrived at as follows:

Deficit to date (expenditures exceeding revenues) in excess of that contemplated in the 1937 budget, $281,000,000.

Estimated expenditures to be made from supplemental appropriation approved in the supplemental appropriation act, 1936, $296,000,000.

Estimated expenditures to be made under the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, $440,000,000.

Total additional expenditures for 1937, due to supreme court decision and adjusted farm program, $1,017,000,000.

For the purpose of clarity, I divide the present total additional revenue needs of the government into the permanent and the temporary ones.

Permanent treasury income of $500,000,000 is required to offset expenditures which will be made annually as a result of the conservation and domestic allotment act recently enacted by the Congress and approved by me; and an additional sum recurring annually for the years will be required to amortize the total cost of the adjusted compensation payment act.

The net effect of paying the veterans' bonus in 1936, instead of 1945, is to add an annual charge of $120,000,000 a year to the $100,000,000 already in the budget.

We are called upon, therefore, to raise by some form of permanent taxation an annual amount of $620,000,000. It may be said, truthfully and correctly, that $500,000,000 of this amount represents substitute taxes in place of the old processing taxes, and that only $120,000,000 represents new taxes not hitherto levied.

TAX NEEDS ARE LEFT TO CONGRESS' DISCRETION

I leave, of course, to the discretion of the Congress the formulation of the appropriate taxes for the needed permanent revenue. I invite your attention, however, to a form of tax which would accomplish an important part of the program, and stop "leaks" in present surtaxes.

Extended study of methods of income taxation is being made.

The first relates to the taxation of what may be termed a windfall received by certain taxpayers who have obtained a large sum of money by the processing of taxes which have been returned to them or otherwise have remained unpaid in the hands of taxpayers who have not yet paid their taxes.

The other suggestion relates to a temporary tax to yield the portion of $517,000,000 not covered by the windfall tax and to be spread over two years or three years.

An excise on the processing of certain agricultural products is worth considering. By increasing the number of commodities so taxed, by greatly lowering the rates of the old processing tax and by spreading the tax over two or three years, only a relatively small burden would be imposed on the producers, consumers or processors.

May Wed King Edward Infanta Christina

SPANISH NEWSPAPER HINTS OF MARRIAGE BETWEEN KING, ALFONSO'S DAUGHTER.

MADRID, March 3.—(AP)—The newspaper Ya in a dispatch from Paris today hinted strongly of a marriage between King Edward VIII of Great Britain and Infanta Christina, 20-year-old daughter of former King Alfonso XIII of Spain.

The dispatch quoted "monarchists" as saying that the king had "already selected the mate with whom he will share the throne with him and when the selection is announced it will be a real scandal in Spain."

The dispatch said that Alfonso passed through Paris on his way to confer with Edward in London but that the Infanta remained in Rome.

ROOSEVELT SEEKS TAX ON SURPLUS PROFITS

The proposals are many. Many Republicans were outspoken in their denunciation.

Seek Quick Action.

Administration officials said a tax program would be formulated and put through as rapidly as possible. The ways and means committee of the House met immediately and referred the subject to a subcommittee headed by Representative Hill, Democrat, Washington. It will begin work tomorrow.

Promulgation of the message shortly after noon brought a surging movement on the nation's markets to a temporary standstill. For more than an hour business operations were suspended as the market awaited the message.

The first relates to the taxation of what may be termed a windfall received by certain taxpayers who have obtained a large sum of money by the processing of taxes which have been returned to them or otherwise have remained unpaid in the hands of taxpayers who have not yet paid their taxes.

As to next year's relief budget, Mr. Roosevelt said it was based only upon taking care of needy employables, indicating that states would be expected to continue caring for unemployed.

The relief request, he added, will be forwarded to Congress some time between March 10 and March 19. In his tax message today, the President reiterated his hope to achieve a balanced 1936-1937 budget except for relief needs—estimated unofficially at around $2,000,000,000.

Enough Funds Sought.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters one of his problems was to find enough money to keep the work relief program going for the remainder of this fiscal year, which expires June 30.

He said the administration has not transferred any money lately to the works progress administration from other relief projects, but that it is scraping the barrel to tide over May and June.

Relief headquarters estimated that 14,000,000 persons are supported by the 3,800,000 employables' holding work relief jobs, and that about 6,000,000 persons are on direct relief.

Hopkins' formal announcement that WPA rolls would be trimmed stated that increased employment opportunities afforded by the public works administration, federal and local road-building programs, and in agriculture and seasonal occupations, which normally increase their working forces throughout the spring, were depended upon to absorb many of those now engaged on WPA projects.

"These reductions will not be layoffs," he said.

Senator Costigan, Democrat, Ohio, indicated the theory of shortening the work week as a partial solution of unemployment.

Mule Not in Politics, Say Dealers, As Prices Jump Throughout South

Heartening union men in the struggle were impressive rolls of cash acquired at Monday auctions where the animals moved fast at from $150 to $250 a head.

The major issue was a statement of Mrs. George B. Simmons, of Marshall, Mo., attractive republican campaigner, likening the democrat to a mule.

"The mule wears wings on his head," Mrs. Simmons told republican women in a "Sounders" Day address at Lincoln, Mo., Saturday. "He has two feet in front for walking and two feet behind for kicking and he is very backward about going forward."

Clifford N. Ragdale, Atlanta veteran who handles mules from Missouri and most other states, pondered the statement.

"Not one harness mule in a hundred will kick," he said. "And not one in a thousand—no, none at all—will balk."

which repudiated the entire taxation method.

From the broader point of view, economists stated the velocity of money would be increased by forced payments either to stockholders or the government, and most of them decided the increase as such at this time would be beneficial.

Creation of a new cycle in the velocity of money, however, was envisaged, when earnings are high, dividends and taxes would be high; when earnings are low, dividends and taxes would be low, it was stated.

Some students of corporate taxation hoped there would be some provision for the use of the corporation's surplus in the case of a depression or extension, thus providing a spur to heavy industry which has lagged all through the depression.

Others wondered whether the new tax in operation might not serve to limit earnings and increase expenses for the corporation, thus reducing the surplus to cut costs and build profits greater than the average of the past several years.

Definitely encouraging, it was pointed out, was the fact that a tax increase would tend toward a balanced budget, something that all Wall Street wanted.

which repudiated the entire taxation method.

From the broader point of view, economists stated the velocity of money would be increased by forced payments either to stockholders or the government, and most of them decided the increase as such at this time would be beneficial.

Creation of a new cycle in the velocity of money, however, was envisaged, when earnings are high, dividends and taxes would be high; when earnings are low, dividends and taxes would be low, it was stated.

Some students of corporate taxation hoped there would be some provision for the use of the corporation's surplus in the case of a depression or extension, thus providing a spur to heavy industry which has lagged all through the depression.

Others wondered whether the new tax in operation might not serve to limit earnings and increase expenses for the corporation, thus reducing the surplus to cut costs and build profits greater than the average of the past several years.

Definitely encouraging, it was pointed out, was the fact that a tax increase would tend toward a balanced budget, something that all Wall Street wanted.

M. M. KELLEY FUNERAL IS CONDUCTED HERE

Funeral services for Mike M. Kelley, former operator of several Atlanta barber shops, who died Sunday at a private hospital, were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

The Rev. C. R. Stauffer officiated, and burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

said the whole problem was explored with a view "possibly" toward seeking a new angle of attack.

As to next year's relief budget, Mr. Roosevelt said it was based only upon taking care of needy employables, indicating that states would be expected to continue caring for unemployed.

The relief request, he added, will be forwarded to Congress some time between March 10 and March 19. In his tax message today, the President reiterated his hope to achieve a balanced 1936-1937 budget except for relief needs—estimated unofficially at around $2,000,000,000.

Enough Funds Sought.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters one of his problems was to find enough money to keep the work relief program going for the remainder of this fiscal year, which expires June 30.

He said the administration has not transferred any money lately to the works progress administration from other relief projects, but that it is scraping the barrel to tide over May and June.

Relief headquarters estimated that 14,000,000 persons are supported by the 3,800,000 employables' holding work relief jobs, and that about 6,000,000 persons are on direct relief.

Hopkins' formal announcement that WPA rolls would be trimmed stated that increased employment opportunities afforded by the public works administration, federal and local road-building programs, and in agriculture and seasonal occupations, which normally increase their working forces throughout the spring, were depended upon to absorb many of those now engaged on WPA projects.

"These reductions will not be layoffs," he said.

Senator Costigan, Democrat, Ohio, indicated the theory of shortening the work week as a partial solution of unemployment.

Mule Not in Politics, Say Dealers, As Prices Jump Throughout South

Mule merchants of the solid south have taken up the defense of their wares against political jibes.

"The donkey, not the mule," spokesmen said, "is the democratic symbol."

Heartening union men in the struggle were impressive rolls of cash acquired at Monday auctions where the animals moved fast at from $150 to $250 a head.

The major issue was a statement of Mrs. George B. Simmons, of Marshall, Mo., attractive republican campaigner, likening the democrat to a mule.

"The mule wears wings on his head," Mrs. Simmons told republican women in a "Sounders" Day address at Lincoln, Mo., Saturday. "He has two feet in front for walking and two feet behind for kicking and he is very backward about going forward."

Clifford N. Ragdale, Atlanta veteran who handles mules from Missouri and most other states, pondered the statement.

"Not one harness mule in a hundred will kick," he said. "And not one in a thousand—no, none at all—will balk."

HOFFMAN-LINDY PROBE MAY SPLIT N. J. PARTY

Governor's Refusal to Reappoint Schwarzkopf To Post Hinted.

TRENTON, N. J., March 3.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman's activities in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case have led indirectly to strained relations between leaders of the democratic party in New Jersey, an authoritative source disclosed tonight.

This authority said the dispute centers around the reappointment of Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf as head of the state police.

Schwarzkopf's five-year term expires in June and reports have long been current the governor, who has been critical of state police work in the Lindbergh kidnap case, does not intend to reappoint him. Friends of Schwarzkopf have urged his reappointment, on February 3.

Hauptmann, who is under sentence to die the week of March 30, was visited today by his wife, Anna, and earlier by his chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher. Mrs. Hauptmann said her husband was unchanged and hopeful of the most recent developments will save him from execution.

The governor, a reliable source has said, will sign a new reprieve for Hauptmann.

LINDBERGH RENTS HAUNTED HOUSE
SEVEN OAKS, England, March 3. (UP)—Portending a prolonged stay in England, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today rented a reputedly haunted house known as "Long Barn" at Weald.

Long Barn is reputed to be the birthplace of Claxton, originator of printing in England. According to local gossip Claxton's ghost haunts the house.

Every moonlight night the ghost appears in the room in which Claxton was born. The "haunted room" is but one removed from the nursery to be occupied by the Lindberghs' son Jon. The Lindberghs plan to occupy the house soon.

It consists of four ancient cottages and a barn built into one house. It is surrounded by old English rose gardens, a swimming pool, tennis court and miles of meadows.

According to legend the house possesses a secret room, but how to discover the room is another secret.

The house has 18 rooms, is half timbered with oak, has huge fire places and much old furniture.

It is believed Jon's bedroom will be located on the first floor and that no body will be able to enter it without first crossing one of the rooms flanking it, as there is no corridor.

It is understood that Lindbergh selected Long Barn because there is an airfield only five miles away.

ROY M. STRICKLAND, ATTORNEY, PASSES
Son of Late Athens Judge Dies of Pneumonia in Hospital.

ROY M. Strickland, Atlanta attorney and son of the late Judge John J. Strickland, of Athens, died yesterday morning at a private hospital following a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Strickland, who lived at 2282 Peachtree road, was 49 years of age. He was a graduate of the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Following his graduation, he practiced law with his father in Athens, later moving to Atlanta and establishing his home and office here.

He was an active member of the Peachtree Road Methodist church, the Shrine, and the Temple.

He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Byrd Moore, of Selma, Ala.; four daughters, Misses Byrd, Lucy, Kathleen and Sara Strickland; a sister, Mrs. Joseph H. Holt, of Sherman, Texas, and the brother, John J. Strickland, of Durham, N. C.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon (T. S. T.) at the graveside in the family burial plot in Athens.

PERUVIAN INVASION CHARGE IS DENIED
LIMA, Peru, March 3.—(AP)—Dr. Carlos Concha, Peruvian foreign minister, denied reported charges from Ecuador tonight that Peruvian citizens have been invading Ecuadorian territory.

"It is untrue that we advanced our domain in the Ecuadorian boundary region," Concha said. "The real truth is that the Peruvian tobacco monopoly has again been giving permits to plant tobacco in the Ecuadorian region situated between both beds of the Zarumilla river."

An agreement, concluded in 1932 between Peru and Ecuador, provided that planting in the region should be discontinued for one year. It actually lasted until this year, however.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT LOST BY WOMAN
Court of Appeals Decides in Favor of Corporation Accused of Negligence.

A suit for $10,000 personal damages, brought against the Georgia Public Utilities Corporation by Mrs. A. C. Metz, of Brunswick, was decided in favor of the corporation by the Georgia court of appeals yesterday.

The plaintiff charged that both she and her mother, Mrs. N. T. Pafford, became unconscious at the Metz home in Brunswick January 11, 1934, from carbon monoxide gas.

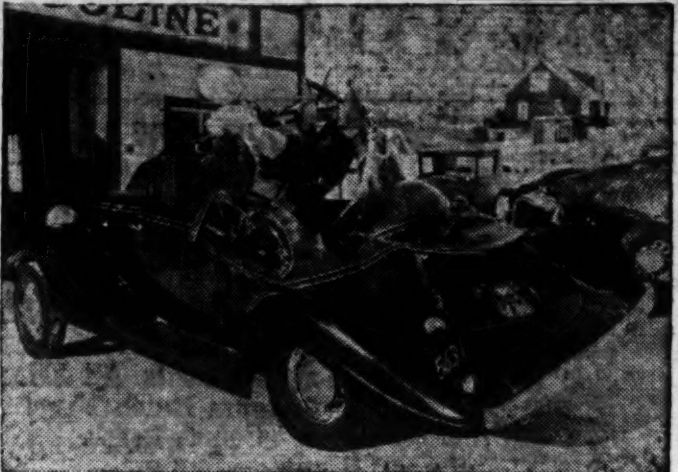

The court held that since the company did not sell or operate the appliance the corporation could not be held responsible. This decision upholds that of the Brunswick city court, which dismissed the suit.

In a suit before the court of appeals from the Thomasville city court, N. A. Parrish was sued for $78 still due on a used automobile sold by the Garrison Motor Company.

Parrish charged he could neither read nor write. He asserted he had signed an agreement on representation of an automobile salesman without knowing the contents of the article. Parrish charged the automobile not only was different from that represented, but that he had asked the company four times to fix it and they hadn't succeeded. He said he had bought the car with the understanding that it was in as good condition as a used car could be.

Parrish got a judgment for $96.

This Driver Sped Into Blind Death Trap

The driver of the "car" shown above was speeding along at a fast clip, after a busy day teaching other persons how to drive. He reached the top of a hill. A snowdrift on his side and an approaching car on the other caused the crash which turned the driver into a near-corpse and the car into the twisted "junk" pictured. (The driver of the other car suffered severe injuries also.)

Quick Death May Lurk on Highway Hidden From Driver, Say Experts

The driver was hurrying home after a busy day teaching other people how to drive. It was a clear, crisp night and he sped over the crest of a hill at rapid rate.

A high snowdrift loomed on his side of the road, and a car was approaching from the opposite direction. The expert driver, he who had been teaching others to drive, jammed on the brakes.

But witnesses told the story of the crash; how the car struck the snowdrift, turned over, skidded more than 40 feet on its side and crashed into the approaching automobile, which had pulled clear off on its side of the road.

Driver Dodged Death.
The driver who caused this accident was a technical decision in his gamble with death. He didn't die, but he was taken to a hospital suffering a sprained back and several broken ribs.

The driver of the other car went to a hospital too, with both legs broken and suffering severe shock, a jarring of his entire nervous system, so severe that it ultimately broke his health, resulting in the loss of his life.

What's the lesson to be learned from this? The Safety Council of The Constitution, sponsors of a safe driving-safety walking campaign in Atlanta and surrounding territory, emphasizes it.

Sign at once, and receive stickers and other material relative to safety. Follow the seven simple rules of safety outlined in the pledge printed in this newspaper as part of its campaign.

If you are a motorist, observe at all times the proper use of hand signals, so that the fellow behind you will know the moves you are about to make. Such a signal may save your life.

In addition to the signing of pledges, encouraging letters were received yesterday from Atlanta citizens, revealing interest in the safety campaign. Remember, crashes are avoidable in most instances, and they can happen to you if you fail to heed the ordinary rules of safety.

The verdict was reversed by the court of appeals on the grounds that the judge erred in his charge to the jury.

Huston in 'Dodswoth' Comes Here This Week
Wide selection of seats for all three performances of "Dodswoth," with Walter Huston in the star role, at the Elran, theater next Friday and Saturday is still possible at the box office, it was announced yesterday.

The box office opens each morning at 10 o'clock.

There has been an unusually heavy advance sale, both in Atlanta and from out of town, but the seating capacity of the theater, combined with the fact that there will be three performances, leaves plenty of good seats yet to be had.

"Dodswoth" will play Friday and Saturday nights, with a matinee on Saturday. In addition to Mr. Huston, in the title role, there are 40 members of the cast, headed by Nan Sun-derland, who is, in private life, Mrs. Walter Huston. The elaborate production, including 14 scenes which are mounted on two revolving stages, necessitates a special train for the tour which will cover the continent before ending on the Pacific coast.

To Resume Cotton Sales.
NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—Selling of government pool cotton, suspended February 26 after a brief period during which the pool was reopened and approximately 150,000 bales of cotton disposed of, will be immediately resumed, according to a telegram received today by P. H. Fuller, Jr., sales supervisor of the cotton producers' pool, from Oscar Johnston, pool manager.

Sentenced in Slaying.
SNOW HILL, N. C., March 3.—(AP) J. F. Owens, 30, Greene county farmer, was sentenced today to seven to nine years in prison following his conviction of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of a woman, who was slain on a street corner near a Decatur street saloon while she was still in her carnival costume early on the morning of January 21.

JUDGE RITTER TO FACE TRIAL BEFORE SENATE

Federal Justice Is Charged With Misbehavior and High Crimes.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—The house impeachment action against Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter, of the southern Florida district, "for misbehavior, and for high crimes and misdemeanors," headed today toward a senate trial.

Ritter, placed on the bench in 1929 by President Coolidge, will be the 12th official in history to go before the senate on impeachment charges.

Chairman Sumners, of the house judiciary committee, prepared two resolutions by which he said he expected the house to send the articles and evidence in the case to the senate this week. The senate probably will try Ritter "within three or four weeks," he said.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, senate judiciary committee chairman, said he expected the trial to be held this session.

The impeachment articles charge that Ritter "corruptly and unlawfully" accepted $4,500 from A. L. Rankin, his former law partner, after Ritter allowed Rankin a $75,000 fee in the receivership of the Whitehall hotel properties at West Palm Beach. It is charged further that Ritter was "a party to the waste and dissipation" of the assets of the receivership property, and that his conduct "has brought his court into scandal and disrepute."

CROWDS GATHER AT STYLE SHOW
Harrington and Strickland Will Speak at Exposition Dinner Tonight.

Atlanta concerns sponsoring the city's first Spring Style and Market Week, with the aid of the Chamber of Commerce, announced tonight that it will be highly gratified at responses made thus far by retail merchants in Atlanta's trade territory. Showrooms were said to be comfortably filled yesterday, the second day of exhibits by individual concerns.

The largest crowds are expected tonight for the feature event of the show, the dinner, floor show and fashion review to be held at the Ans'y hotel. Addresses will be made by Eugene Harrington, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Robert Strickland, Atlanta banker. A crowd exceeding the 700 attending a similar dinner last fall is expected to be present, according to Perryman Little, public relations director.

The latest fashions in ready-to-wear, millinery and other lines of merchandise are on display in the showrooms, and the show will be the fashion review tonight. Margaret Reeves, style expert of Detroit, who will direct the fashion show, held the review with her group of models last night.

In their addresses tonight, Mr. Harrington will welcome the visiting merchants in behalf of Atlanta business, and Mr. Strickland will discuss the prospects of Atlanta becoming the mercantile center of the south.

YOUTH, 21, IS CHARGED IN MARDI GRAS KILLING
NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—On instructions from Sidney A. Mitchell, assistant district attorney, police today formally charged Joseph (Slim) McQuillion, 21, with murder in connection with the Mardi Gras saloon slaying of Mrs. Lillian McDowell, 36.

The slaying was established by a man on a street corner near a Decatur street saloon while she was still in her carnival costume early on the morning of January 21.

McQuillion was charged with the slaying of a woman, who was slain on a street corner near a Decatur street saloon while she was still in her carnival costume early on the morning of January 21.

Over 100 of the arrests were made on lottery violations. Whisky charges accounted for 174.

Over $8,000 worth of stolen goods was recovered during the month and 238 automobiles were removed from the streets.

In addition to the 4,236 arrests made, 4,630 traffic charges were booked, the majority of them for speeding and reckless driving.

Operations of dives resulted in 77 charges, occupancy of dives in 221 and soliciting 21. Drunks caused 1,101 arrests and 62 persons were charged with idling and loitering in the department's drive to clear city streets of suspicious characters.

Safe Driving Pledge

In the interest of accident prevention and safer conditions on the highways and in co-operation with the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution, I am making the following pledge:

1. To drive at moderate speed and on own side of road.
2. Not to pass cars on curves or hills.
3. To stop at stop signs.
4. Not to jump traffic lights.
5. In city traffic to be particularly watchful for pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars.
6. Always to give hand signals showing my intention of turning to the left, to the right, or stopping, and not to leave the curb from a parked position without giving a signal.
7. To be fair to other drivers in all respects and to refrain from reckless driving.

Divining Rod Aids Pair in 'Swiping' Pot of Gold Hidden for Century

That pot of gold on Mrs. D. C. Short's farm just outside Commerce, Ga., the very one that has had everyone hunting and digging and dynamiting and guessing and talking for the last hundred years, was swiped last Wednesday.

Mrs. Short knows it was swiped because she has eyewitnesses who saw two old men walk into the farm, while no one was around, unheath a divining rod and walk right to a spot which they attacked with a shovel. The hole is there today and at the bottom of the hole is a round, smooth depression that nothing but a pot of gold could have made, according to Mrs. Short. It was a gallon pot, she says.

The matter was taken up with the federal government in Atlanta, Mrs. Short said yesterday, adding:

"I've asked that man to come up here and investigate it."

Inquiry revealed "that man" was George H. Brodnax, chief of the secret service in Atlanta, who admitted last night over the telephone that he had received a letter from Mrs. Short. "There's nothing I can do," said

Mr. Brodnax, "but seize the gold if it turns up and turn it over to the treasury. If the government finds anyone hoarding gold, the gold is seized. However, in this case, the government would probably pay Mrs. Short for whatever gold is found—if it is found. I can't go out and look for it. Mrs. Short will have to get the local police to do that for her."

Over the telephone last night, Mrs. Short relayed the message that she was not reporting the theft to the local police at Commerce, because she just knows "they won't do anything about it."

The house and farm that Mrs. Short owns just outside Commerce was once owned by the Sanders family. It was reported that shortly before the War Between the States, one of the members of the Sanders family buried a pot full of gold coins and nuggets.

Searches have been made over the property but the pot was never found until the two men dug it up from under eight inches of soil last week, according to Mrs. Short.

"I don't know who it is and I want them caught," insisted Mrs. Short last night.

DRIVE BY POLICE SHOWS RESULTS
Report to Acting Chief Hornsby Reveals Definite Progress in February.

Concrete results from the Atlanta police department's anti-vice campaign were shown yesterday in a report filed with Acting Chief M. A. Hornsby by Acting Station Lieutenant M. C. Williams.

Cases booked during February showed a definite increase over those in January, the report revealed. Last month a total of 4,236 arrests were made as compared with 3,442 during January.

Over 100 of the arrests were made on lottery violations. Whisky charges accounted for 174.

Over $8,000 worth of stolen goods was recovered during the month and 238 automobiles were removed from the streets.

AMENDMENT UPHELD TO BANKRUPTCY ACT
Congress' Jurisdiction May Be Extended If U. S. Question Involved, Says Court

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—A 1934 act of congress amending the national bankruptcy law so as to enable political corporations to readjust their bonded indebtedness was held constitutional today in a ruling of the United States fifth circuit court of appeals.

The decision reversed the findings of the district court for the southern district of Texas, which dismissed a contest to the petition to readjust the 1934 amendment was unconstitutional.

Widespread interest was manifested in the case in view of the many political corporations throughout the country which have taken advantage of the amendment to "adjust their finances."

Judge Rufus E. Foster wrote the opinion. The Cameron county water improvement district filed its petition in July, 1934, after passage of the act seeking to readjust its $800,000 indebtedness.

Dismissal Sought.
On October 1, 1934, a group of bondholders holding more than 5 percent of the total issue of bonds, filed a contest to the petition and moved it be dismissed, setting out the following allegations:

That the court was without jurisdiction because the proceeding was not in bankruptcy and congress was without authority to adopt the act; That the proceeding was in violation of the fifth amendment to the federal constitution (due process amendment); That the petition was ineffective because the Texas legislature had not authorized the petitioner to accept the benefit of an act of congress; And that the petitioner actually was not insolvent.

Court's Opinion.
Said the circuit court opinion: "Of course, a sovereign state may not be sued by an individual without her consent. But congress may extend the jurisdiction of the interior courts of the United States over the states of the Union where the state is seeking relief and a federal question is presented for decision. The immunity of a state does not extend to a political corporation of the state and a suit to enforce the obligations of such a corporation may be maintained in a federal court without the consent of the state."

"We do not consider the consent of the state in advance is necessary to enable a political corporation to take advantage of the beneficial provisions of the law."

"The act is remedial and to be liberally construed."

"The act of May 24, 1934, provides that the judge, after hearing, may direct the taxing district to file such schedule and submit such other information as may be necessary to disclose the conduct of affairs of the taxing district and the fairness of any proposed (readjustment) plan."

"The act clearly contemplates that the district judge, in the exercise of sound discretion, should not only allow but may direct necessary amendments to the petition in order to permit the granting of the relief provided by the act."

"Other objections urged by the intervenors (bondholders) are without merit and do not require discussion."

2 CHILDREN PERISH AS DWELLING BURNS
TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Two children were burned to death and another child and an aged woman were injured this morning in a fire which firemen said started from an overheated stove in a two-story dwelling in the Latin section.

The dead: Armando Garcia, 7, and Tony, 9, cousins.

The injured: Gloria Garcia, 6, sister of Tony, possibly internal injuries, and Mrs. Felicia Esteve, 60, grandmother of the children, broken arm.

All were asleep on the second floor when the fire awakened them.

Gloria told her mother she begged the boys to jump and when they refused she leaped to show them the way.

The grandmother broke her arm in a fall while making her way through the flames down a stairway to the first floor.

ELIZABETH BERGNER UNDERGOES OPERATION
LONDON, March 3.—(AP)—Elizabeth Bergner, German actress, underwent an operation today in a London nursing home. She was suddenly taken ill last night.

Physicians said that the operation was made necessary by an acute case of perforated appendix.

Miss Bergner had just finished a filming here of a "As You Like It" and was scheduled to open in Sir James Barrie's new play, "The Boy David," in Edinburgh March 14.

BOXERS PRIMED FOR S. E. C. MEET AT NEW ORLEANS

L. S. U., Georgia, Greenies and Maroons Favored Friday.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—Southeastern conference punch-throwers were primed tonight for the third renewal of the "Big 13's" annual boxing tournament scheduled to get under way at Tulane University Friday.

A. approximately 50 mittmen are expected to exchange blows for the various division titles as well as the tournament championship, which will go to the team with the greatest number of class winners and runners-up. Louisiana State, winner of the 1935 tournament, will be back with a strong eight-man team to defend its title, but faces stiff opposition from Tulane, Mississippi State, Georgia and Mississippi University fighters.

TIDE AND VOLTS. Alabama and Tennessee also have entered men. Florida and Kentucky, other Southeastern conference schools with boxing teams will not be represented.

L. S. U., Tulane, Mississippi State and Tennessee, will have representatives in each of the eight divisions. Georgia has entered a six-man team. Four boxers will wear the Ole Miss colors and two the Crimson of Alabama.

Titles will be awarded in the following divisions: Bantamweight (115 pounds); featherweight (125); lightweight (135); welterweight (145); senior welterweight (155); middleweight (165); light-heavyweight (175) and heavyweight (over 175).

NONE UNDEFEATED. Not a single undefeated team is included in the seven competing schools. However, records of dual meets indicate Tulane, L. S. U., Mississippi State, Georgia and possibly Tennessee, will have the edge.

Four 1935 class champions will be back defending their titles. Eddie Ketcham, L. S. U., holder of the lightweight title, is favored in that division, as is Max Radulsky, Georgia, in the welterweight class.

Bert Reddock, Mississippi State star, is conceded the edge in the middleweight division. The fourth defending champion, Jimmie Blakeman, L. S. U., appears to be in for plenty of trouble. He has been twice defeated in dual meets.

First round bouts are scheduled for Friday afternoon, second round contests Friday night, and the finals Saturday night.

PENNA CARDS 64 IN FLORIDA MEET

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—They were all ready to close the books upon the first day of the $2,500 Hollywood open golf tournament late this morning after a rainstorm when Tony Penna came ambling up to the scoreboard.

Modestly, the dark, handsome young man, who calls Penscola, Fla., home and plays and teaches over the swank Boca Raton Club's three courses, presented his card—33-31—64. Par for the 18-hole course is 36-34—70.

"I just got hot," he explained, before hurrying away to change clothes.

"Hot" indeed he was. His scintillating round, in which he collected seven birdies, clipped six strokes off par, equaled the non-competitive course record Johnny Farrell set several years ago and push him out three strokes in the van of the ace field of money players assembled for the tournament.

Unlike early leaders, the 28-year-old Penna, whose only major victory came in the 1933 southeastern P. G. A. tourney, did not have to stare around the scoreboard waiting for someone to knock his low mark over.

He, Bobby Cruikshank, of Richmond, Va., and Helet Hicks, the woman professional from Hewletts, L. I., were the last threesome to finish.

Three strokes back of Penna, at 67, were four high-ranking money players—Cruikshank, Johnny Revolta, of Milwaukee; Lew Waldron, of Chicago, and Denny Shute, of Boston.

Where's George? He's dead now, is Charlie Hansen, but when he was good, he was very good.

He was a part of a drama in the old days, a rassling drama. Stanislaus Zbyszko was champion then, the old man, with his turread head.

And one day a rugged young man blew into Nashville, Tenn.-O-See, and said he was named Charlie Whitlock and he could wrestle. He pinned a few local boys and then went on with others on the mat cards. He won. And so he was matched with the old man, old Stanislaus.

When they entered the ring, there was much muttering. The Old Man said he was tricked. The man wasn't Whitlock, but Hansen. But he had to go on.

For three mortal hours they tugged and pulled. And only once in all that three hours did they go to the mat. It was halted, the match was, at midnight. Over Hansen's protest.

Both those boys knew how to put up their hands and how to wrestle. There are a lot of puffing, lumbering bums with beards in the game now who don't know how. It was exciting, those three hours, if one knew wrestling. Because they were both smart.

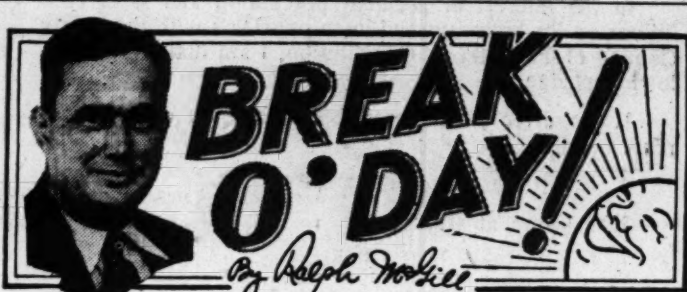

And the Old Man, more than 50 years old even then, lasted it out.

THE NEXT CHAMPION—BILL LEE. Within a year I think Bill Lee, the former Alabama football player and a star of the Rose Bowl, will be the world's heavyweight wrestling champion.

I've heard too many of the old-timers talk who have worked with him. He is one of those naturals. He can beat two-thirds of them right now. And for more than a year now he's been training three and four hours per day.

He was thought to be in great shape when he played football at 250 pounds. He's down to 235 now and will wrestle at about 230.

He's the real sensation among wrestlers. They know. Although little about Bill Lee has got into the papers. But there'll be plenty later on. The boy can really step in there and go. On his own.

Bud Thomas, who chunks the baseball for our nine, was in town yesterday. He is one of the young men who have not as yet dipped pen in ink and signed an Atlanta contract. So when Bud Thomas showed up at the park it might have been expected he was there on baseball business.

But no. Not baseball at all. It was mules.

Here in the heat of a spring training camp debut, one of our leading holdouts is discussing mules. He spent his time at the baseball office getting rates on how much a couple of Pullman seats would be for them to his farm at North Gardens, Virginia.

Then he went out to the stockyards, looked experimentally at the molar of some of the hee-haws and finally laid cash on the line for a couple of the better ones.

He then arranged for their fare to Virginia, kissed them goodbye and went off to the railroad station humming "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

But the train carried him off to Gulfport, Miss., instead. That's where the Crackers are to begin training today.

I wish to say here that one doesn't buy mules off the 10-cent counter. Those brutes cost important money. Farming must be good up at North Gardens.

I thought maybe Bud Thomas might be considering farming all summer with those two mules. But his farm is in Virginia. Not Gulfport. He won't travel that distance and refuse to sign.

He spent the whole day here, missing Earl Mann, Cracker president, who left early in the morning for Gulfport. They'll meet this morning. He should be signed by the afternoon. He talked no baseball yesterday. Just mules.

And Bud Thomas, for all his fondness for mules, is not stubborn like a mule. He'll sign. But in quite a few years of doing newspaper chores, Bud Thomas is the first holdout I've met who was more interested in a couple of mules than baseball. There must be something in this farming business after all.

IT'S A PLEASANT LIFE. The training camp life is a pleasant one. The Crackers, for instance, will sleep with the sound of the white-cap waves in their ears. They will breathe in the air which has salt and iodine in it. They will become tanned. They will swim and fish and play golf.

With someone else footing the bills. They will do their baseball chores, a couple of hours or so per day. The rest of the time is their own.

It is pictures such as that which prevent the baseball hold-out from getting any sympathy. The public is never for him. The public is doing at least eight hours per day on some job and if they golf or swim or fish, they foot their own bills. Their reaction to a baseball holdout is never very kind.

And they know, too, most of the players are making more than they could make at any other job.

The ball player is smart to get all he can while he can. But he can't expect any sympathy. His job appears too easy to the other fellow.

DANNO GOES FLOPPY. My old Dutch friend, Richard Shikat, pronounced she-cat, had the lad from the land of the Blarney, moaning on the evening before last. So much so that he moaned right out of his title.

I refer, of course, to that handsome broth of a boy, Danno O'Mahoney, the Irish lad who held the rassling title for a spell.

Dick Shikat put a hammerlock on him and it was all over after 18 minutes of grappling. It so happens that Dick Shikat is one of the better wrestlers. He comes nearer to being Joe Stecher, as far as balance goes, than any other man who has come along. Excepting, of course, Jim Londos, the classic Greek. He is one of the two or three best wrestlers, is Dick Shikat.

And a hammerlock hold, for which there is no block, after it has gone so far, is a mean hold. The boys do not use it a great deal because not many of them are adept at it. There is a block for it if the block is obtained early. But not after a man has really got it. He can pull that arm right off.

I suspect that Danno's moans were very, very authentic. Dick Shikat was really putting it on.

THE HAMMERLOCK HOLD. It was Charlie Hansen who could put on the hammerlock. He's dead now, is Charlie Hansen, but when he was good, he was very good.

He was a part of a drama in the old days, a rassling drama. Stanislaus Zbyszko was champion then, the old man, with his turread head.

And one day a rugged young man blew into Nashville, Tenn.-O-See, and said he was named Charlie Whitlock and he could wrestle. He pinned a few local boys and then went on with others on the mat cards. He won. And so he was matched with the old man, old Stanislaus.

MANGIN BEATS DR. MCAULIFF STRAIGHT SETS

Indoor Net Champion Advances to Quarter-Finals at New York.

By Bob Cavanaugh.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—Gregory Mangin's stock rose bullishly today as he cut down towering Dr. Eugene McAuliff in decisive fashion and entered the quarter-final round in defense of his United States indoor singles tennis championship.

Fully recovered from his recent illness and more closely approximating his characteristic mercurial form, the three-times champion swarmed all over the former Forestham star in registering a decisive straight-set victory, 6-2, 6-2.

With Mangin setting the pace, the old established order of form held sway in all divisions of play—men's and women's singles and doubles competitions. After eight hours of industry the final round was down to eight players each with the quarter-finalists not scheduled to play again until Thursday.

Tomorrow's program will be given over to doubles.

Mangin's somewhat lackadaisical performances in the preliminary rounds had raised some doubt in the minds of his supporters as to his fitness, but he dispelled it today as he covered the court with cat-like agility and closed the match against Dr. McAuliff by taking 12 straight points in the finest display of shot-making in the tournament.

The title-holder's opponent in the round of eight will be Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal. Culley overcame stubborn opposition furnished by Mel Lapan, eastern intercollegiate champion in scoring an overtime triumph, 10-12, 7-5, 6-1.

Seeded fifth, Culley found in Lapan a deft player and had to summon all of his wits to his command to squelch him.

Karl Schroeder, Sweden's foremost singles player, and Frank S. Den, rugged New Yorker, won their third-round engagements to fill an other quarter final bracket for what promises to be the standout match of the tournament.

The two top average men of the Schroeder division, C. H. (Red) Marlow and Fred Wooding, will be teamed and should burn up the maples if they get the breaks.

Morris Meisel and C. Fitzgerald, of the City League, are practicing each noon hour and hope to build up a winning combination before the date of the tournament.

Eight donors of tennis are already entered and more entries will be coming in each day and night from this time on. The first of the ladies' entries will be filed Wednesday evening as the Ladies' Commercial league bowls.

EMORY TANKMEN FACE MARYVILLE Emory University's swimming team will face their third opponent of the season Wednesday night when they meet the Maryville College team in the Emory pool. The match is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Coach Hugh Shackelford's Emory tankmen won a decisive victory over the Tennessee boys last year, but will be working for their first victory of the current season.

Saturday afternoon at 3:30, Georgia Tech's natators will invade Emory for a dual meet with the Blue and Gold squad. The meet was originally scheduled to be a three-way engagement, but Furman withdrew.

In their fifth engagement of the season, the Emoryites will swim against the strong Atlanta "Y" aggregation Monday at the Emory pool. A three-way meet with Tennessee and Furman will be held at Auburn here also and scheduled for later in the season.

Emory Netmen Card 10 Meets. Emory University tennis stars begin work this week in preparation for a 10-game tennis schedule which will send them against many of the outstanding collegiate netmen of the south.

Merced will be the first opponent, scheduled to meet the Emory netmen on Emory's central campus, March 5, at 10 a. m. The match will be coached by Nick Politer, coach.

Several members of last year's freshman team, among them Fenwick Jones, Paul Wagner, Paul Anderson, Tom Mahler and Allan Crawford, will also figure in the competition for team places.

Emory will play host to high school players in March when the state-wide high school tournament will be held. Dedication of the centennial courts will feature the opening matches in the tourney.

Five Matches Scheduled For Emory Golfers. Five matches have already definitely been scheduled for the Emory golf team's spring competition, according to an announcement Tuesday by Graham Golson, student golf manager.

Two other matches are pending. Emory links artists will face Duke, March 28. A match with Furman will follow on April 2. Other matches scheduled are: Florida, April 16; Georgia Tech, April 20, and another meet with Tech on May 11.

Meets with Georgia and Davidson are tentatively arranged but have not yet been confirmed.

Crawford Rainwater, Atlanta star, is the main hope of Emory in the spring competition. He performed creditably in the recent Thomasville open tourney. Other veteran players who are competing for places on the team are Jack Bothamley, Ray Menke, Eugene Jones and Paul Anderson.

Those who are unable to play in the open tourney will also be counted upon, including Charlie Shropshire, Dave Black and Audolph Denwick. All matches of the team will be played over the Druid Hills course.

Baseball Meeting Set for Sunday There will be an important baseball meeting at the Jewish Educational Alliance Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for the purpose of organizing the All-Star baseball team.

Those who are unable to attend the meeting are requested to leave their names at the desk to be given to Leonard Seligman, manager.

Impatient Dizzy May Raise Price

BRADENTON, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean rolled into town tonight with a $40,000 chip on his shoulder.

It's that or nothing if the Cardinals want him, he asserted. Furthermore, they could come to him to make the arrangements. He isn't going to them, the "Ditz" said.

"I asked the Cardinals for $25,000," said he. "Branch Rickey told me Babe Ruth got $50,000 a year, so you should have $40,000. I have always taken Mr. Rickey's advice and I'm doing so in this case."

"If Rickey is worth $50,000 a year to the Cardinals I am worth $40,000. Rickey can draw anybody into the park, does he?"

Bowlers Sign For Meet Here

Four more doubles teams, representative of four different duckpin leagues, added their entries to the list of players who will compete in the fourth annual Atlanta Constitution duckpin tournament here on Saturday, March 14.

Carl Tidwell and A. J. Sossong, of the City League, who were second in The Constitution tournament last season, have filed their entries and hope to step up to the first position this year.

With the increased "scrub average" mark, it is probable that Sossong and Tidwell will be the only doubles team in the contest that will be bowling without the aid of a handicap this year.

Lowry Whisenand and James (Dusty) Rhodes, of the First Baptist team in the Sunday School league, will endeavor to add a bit of prestige to their league by winning the coveted title and beautiful gold medals.

The two top average men of the Schroeder division, C. H. (Red) Marlow and Fred Wooding, will be teamed and should burn up the maples if they get the breaks.

Morris Meisel and C. Fitzgerald, of the City League, are practicing each noon hour and hope to build up a winning combination before the date of the tournament.

BOXING RULERS APPROVE FIGHT

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—The New York Athletic Commission today put its stamp of approval on the May bout between Tony Canzoneri and Jimmy McLarnin with the proviso that Canzoneri defend his lightweight title against an outstanding contender to be approved by the commission.

The commission suggested that Canzoneri's opponent be selected in an elimination series among Wesley Ramsey, Pedro Montanez, Lou Ambers and the winner of Friday's fight in Madison Square Garden between Indian Hurtado and Leonard Del Genio.

The idea met the approval of Sammy Goldman, Canzoneri's manager, the lightweight champion himself and James L. Johnston, Garden promoter.

REESE, BOLAND WIN MATCHES; BITSY IS IDLE

Rain Prevents All Tilts in Palm Beach Play; Courts Loser.

PALEM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Rain halted early proceedings of the Everglades Club tennis tournament here today, but several matches were played on private courts as skies cleared this afternoon.

As the result of the scattered play, the tournament is ready to continue tomorrow with the regular schedule of men's doubles, mixed doubles and second-round matches in the women's singles.

Thur Hendrix, of Lakeland, defeated Charles R. Appel, Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-2, and Charles F. Ware, New York, fell before the attack of Charles R. Harris, West Palm Beach, 6-3, 1-6.

No matches are slated for tomorrow in the men's singles, in which Bryan "Bitty" Grant still is a contender.

Included in today's results were the following: Men's singles, second round: Mel Tappan, defeated Durand Sainz, Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-0; Weston Painter, Minneapolis, defeated W. R. Hahn, New York, 6-2, 6-0; Raymond Knick, Cincinnati, defeated R. W. Courts, Atlanta, 7-5, 6-1; Billy Reese, Atlanta, defeated T. Oughertson, 6-2, 6-0.

Women's division, second round: Miss Sonia Philipp, Westbury, L. I., defeated Miss Mary Stebbins, Boca Raton, 6-2, 6-0; Dr. B. S. Boland, Atlanta, defeated Miss Wickham, Kentucky, 6-1, 6-0; Stanley Gendler, Southampton, L. I., defeated Carroll Turner, Miami, 6-0; Jack Oshiner, West Palm Beach, defeated John Hume, 6-2, 6-0.

CITY LOOP HERE APPEARS LIKELY

The first call for amateur baseball teams brought out enough to fill three leagues Tuesday night. The prospects are bright for Trammell Scott to organize the City League consisting of eight teams and playing on Sunday, and two six-team leagues, probably to be named the Atlanta and Scott leagues, to play on Saturday afternoons.

The franchise fee this year will be $5 for at least two of the leagues, and other necessary expenses will keep the cost down to a very low figure.

Another meeting will be held on Friday night at Trammell Scott's store and teams not already affiliated with a league are invited to attend.

Boys' Court Meet Set for March 13

Final plans have been completed for the third annual city boys' basketball tournament. The tourney will be held March 13 and 14 on the N. A. F. S. court. The meet is for boys 13 years of age and under.

Teams which already desire entrance are: The Five Aces, "Y" Commodore, O'Keefe Panthers and the Firecrackers.

Any team wishing to enter can do so by calling Billy Youngblood at Hemlock 3357-R.

Pitcher and Hill Spend Day Here

Eddie Moore and Boys Await Opening 1936 Drill Today.

By Jack Troy. Staff Correspondent.

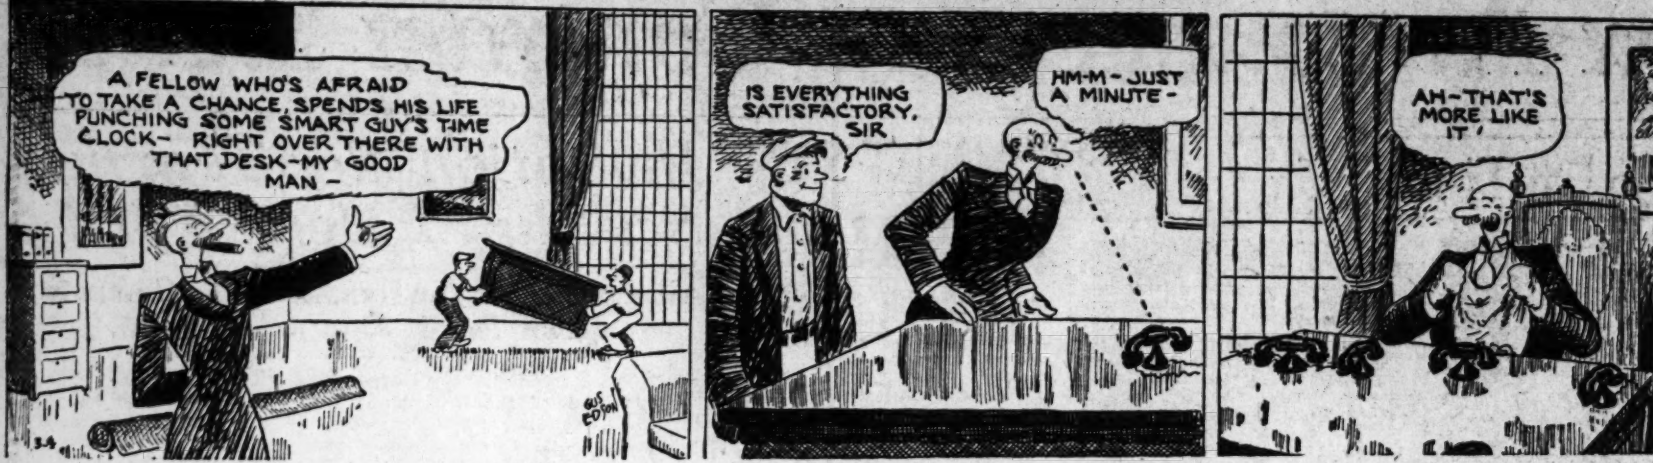

GULFPORT, Miss., March 3.—The Cracker advance guard of 1936 was marking time tonight preparatory to opening the spring training season tomorrow at their new camp here.

Early arrivals included Manager Eddie Moore, Nick Lipscomb and Bob Durham, who reached here a couple of days ahead of time, and Stanley Bach, former manager of Kentucky State; Bill Casey, a rookie catcher from Ozark, Ala., and Charles Schaff, a New Orleans bellboy who will try out as a pitcher.

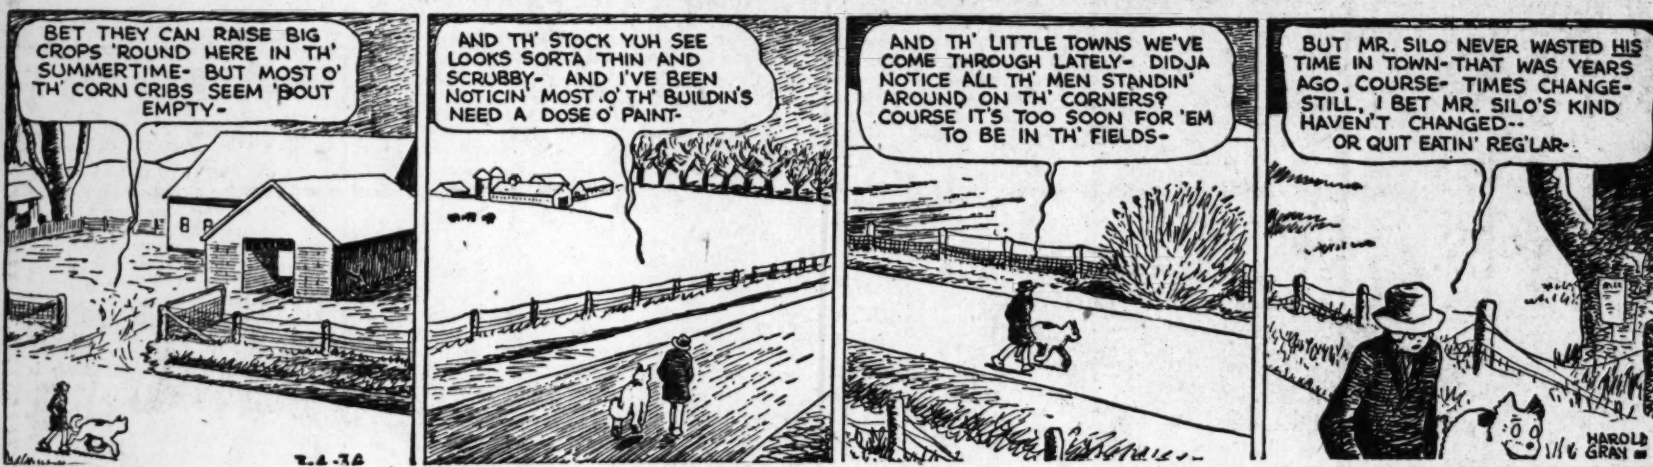

Ideal weather awaits the opening workout for catchers and pitchers. With lotions of spring climate and a fine field, the advance guard is eager for the work to begin.

"We're here to investigate a matter of some eastern robbery in which the money was listed by its serial numbers in such a way that we could recognize it. Recently some of that money has been showing up around the gambling halls in Reno. In our investigations back east we discovered that there was some connection between this gang and a man named—"

A quick blinking on the part of Buck Wasey, facing the door, halted him. Sandy Ross, turned at the sound of steps which crossed the porch and the threshold. There had been no pause to knock. An instant more and a familiar figure stood facing them. Jim Titters, ex-marshall, held his throat in an embarrassed manner. He looked toward the new visitor, then with a gulp toward Ross and Wasey.

"Like you to know a friend of mine: Joe Willis—Sociable Joe, everybody calls him. We're old checker pals. And Joe—" his words suddenly speeded up—"I know these men don't want me to tell you—but they're federal officers! You can trust Joe," he added, to the special agents. They were silent in anger.

Sociable Joe straightened pompously, bowing toward the angered men of the special squad.

"Um-m-m—ah!" he exclaimed. The bloodhounds of the law, if I may use poetic license?"

"Depends on how you look at it," answered Buck sourly. He and his superior had worked for days in this vicinity under assumed names. They had loafed about gambling halls, frequented saloons, endured long hours without sleep, traveled the desert to neighboring camps, all that they might trace down a chance remark which a keeper had made one night, a mere statement on the winnings of a fellow named Sociable Joe. Now they had found the person they sought, only to have him forevermore, forewarned by the thoughtfulness of a plainly flustered old man. "I never saw much poetry in a bloodhound," Buck concluded.

Sociable Joe laughed uproariously at that. However, the excess of his amusement could not explain the quick nervous movements of his hands, nor the event which suddenly had gathered on his upper lip. Buck Wasey glanced hastily at his superior. Subterfuge no longer could aid them; the Texan settled into a chair, shifting his heavy gun to a more comfortable position as he crossed his short legs.

"Yep," he drawled, "we're out here to—"

Sociable Joe's expression halted him. All the pompousness was gone, the air of hilarity, the twinkle of the somewhat amiable eyes.

"Yes, gentlemen," he said. "I guess I know why you're out here. I half turned to his checker-playing companion: 'Maybe you'd better get that money out of the safe, Jim. That's what they're after.'"

An hour later, Sociable Joe, with an air of weariness, leaned back in his chair and ran a shaky hand across his round face.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I've tried my best to tell you a straight story. I came by this money innocently. Then, as I told you, I happened to see a—" line of serial numbers on a cashier's desk in a bank, and found out it wasn't honest money, but—"

"Hot," Sandy interjected.

"Yes, sir," answered Sociable Joe. "I've been around enough to know hot money isn't healthy money. I thought everything over and decided that when a fellow's in trouble the best thing to do is to seek the law—bring all things to Cesar that are Cesar's," he concluded, "and if they aren't Cesar's—"

There he halted, realizing that for the moment the three other men had disregarded him. Ex-Marshall Jim Titters had readjusted his spectacles for the fourth time and was listening, neck craned, while Buck Wasey read off the numbers of some 20 new $10 bills, which Sociable Joe had turned over to him while Sandy Ross checked them against a list which he carried. At last the inspector looked up.

"These came from an armored car robbery at New Orleans," he announced. Sociable Joe nodded slowly. "That's what I read on the money list you people put out to the banks. Why didn't you tell the bank about it?"

Joe Titters cut in:

"Joe came to me on this thing," there was a snap in his voice. "It was better than going to a bank that would have spilled it all over town."

Buck eyed him.

"And you didn't tell anybody?"

"I was waiting to tell, wasn't I?" the old man asked with some asperity. "How could I make a report on it until there's somebody to report to?"

"Mr. Titters already explained," Ross reminded Buck, "that he acts as a sort of special expert when the marshal is out of town."

"He's been away more'n two weeks," said Titters.

Ross turned to the worried Sociable Joe.

"When did you get this money?"

"About 10 days ago."

"Where?"

"Gambling." For a moment he recovered some of his airiness. "There were several men who believed they could make a poker deck sit up and beg. But, sir," he added proudly, "I began training axes while a babe in arms."

"This happened where?"

"In the back room of the Twenty-Carat."

"You had an opportunity to study the men? The ones who gambled with you?"

Sociable Joe waved a hand grandiloquently.

"I never forget a face. Mirrors can lie but not Sociable Joe. No, I was 6 feet 10, 10, 24, fair complexioned—"

"Take this down, Buck," said Sandy. An hour later they left the house bearing with them the $200 in money, leaving a receipt behind. At some future date Sociable Joe could obtain a refund if his story had been true. It was that question which held the interest of the men as they started up the long hill leading out of town and back toward Reno. It was difficult to determine whether they had struck a lead at last—or were merely engaged in chasing another will-o'-the-wisp.

"Wait a minute there," interjected Sandy. "If we were half that sure, we'd have him in this car and under arrest."

Buck Wasey cupped his mouth and raised the inflection of his voice.

"I meant morally sure, not legal," he argued. "We know this, that in the Philadelphia job one of those gun molls started to put a gun out of her bag to give to a gangster pal and zipped off a piece of a letter that must have been in the pocketbook with the pistol. We know that, don't we? And we know that piece of a letter had Sociable Joe's name on it."

"O, that's certain enough."

"Certain," yelled Buck over the protesting throb of the motor. "I can repeat it by heart!" He quoted:

"I saw Sociable Joe today."

Buck repeated the few lines from the piece of a letter which had been dropped by one of the gang involved in the Philadelphia robbery.

"I saw Sociable Joe today. Must have been trying to catch that 3 o'clock plane from the way he was running—"

There you are. We track down every Sociable Joe in the country. At last we fasten into this old buzzard. And, funny enough, he's got some of that hot dough on him."

HIGHLIGHTS OF HOLLYWOOD.

III—Dolores Costello Barrymore. Those who know and love the story of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will be able to see it acted out on the screen before long. In it will appear two widely known stars—Freddie Bartholomew and Dolores Costello Barrymore.

This will be Mrs. Barrymore's first picture in several years. Before her marriage to John Barrymore she won fame as an actress under her maiden name of Dolores Costello. Since then she has been busy caring for their little children, Ethel Mae, and John Jr., and often has taken them with her on travels to far places.

"Now that my children have grown a bit," she said in an interview, "I believe it will be possible to carry on my screen work again. Ethel Mae has started to school, and John has reached the age of four. Mrs. Barrymore is the daughter of a noted actor, Maurice Costello. She

The DEBUNKER By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS PURE GOLD

The standard for pure gold, or what is called pure gold, is 24 karats. This is the basis upon which various purities of gold are rated. Scientists say that "in reality, however, there is no gold so pure, but that it wants about a quarter of a karat of this standard." Thus, a gold which is 23 and three-fourths karat gold would be called pure gold—even though it is not. In its native state gold is usually mixed with silver, copper, and iron, and it is impossible, apparently, to refine all of this out. Gold is a very soft metal and useless for coins and jewelry unless in alloy.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

was born in Pittsburgh, and did her first moving picture work at the age of six at a studio at Brooklyn, N. Y. Later she appeared on the stage in New York, and then she made the pictures which brought her wide public notice. They included "The Sea Beast," "Glorious Betsy," and "Heart of Maryland."

"The name 'Costello' makes me think you might be of Italian descent," said to Mrs. Barrymore. "Is that the case?"

"No," she replied. "My father was Irish, and my mother was French-Alsatian. I may have a Spaniard far back in my ancestry. 'Costello' seems to be a shorter form of 'Costello,' the name of a Spaniard shipwrecked on the Irish coast when the Spanish Armada sailed to the British Isles, more than 300 years ago."

When I talked with Freddie Bartholomew, he told me how much he had enjoyed making a picture with Mrs. Barrymore, and showed me a wrist watch she had given him. Mrs. Barrymore, on her part, said of Freddie, "I think he's a charming boy. He has an excellent mind and is very sure of himself."

It has been said of Mrs. Barrymore that she has "a sweet and gentle loveliness," and the words seem true to me. Her eyes are gray-blue, and her hair is a brown-bronze. During our talk, her little son came into the room, and chatted with us for a while. He and his sister have had offers to go into pictures, but their mother is so willing to have them act until they are old enough to decide for themselves what line of work they want to follow.

Groom-Elect's Mother Makes Quilt From Silk Tie Scraps

By Sally Forth.

ONE of the most appreciated and unique gifts that Tom Sanders and Mary Claire Shipp have received is a quilt given them by Tom's mother, Mrs. Tom Sanders Sr. The lovely coverlet is made from the ties that Tom has worn for many years. Mrs. Sanders has been diligently saving these colorful accessories, had them cleaned, and has made the 2,000 pieces into a masterpiece of art for the young couple. The quilt is fashioned in the stunning Washington pavement pattern, which is really first cousin to the log cabin pattern, and it is lined in French blue silk. Mrs. Sanders spent months of diligent and artistic work upon this gift, and the culmination of her handiwork is an unusually handsome article.

Mary Claire's mother and father have given her and Tom a handsome silver set in the Chantilly pattern, and Tom's parents gave them a mahogany gate-leg table and six matching chairs that are heirlooms in the Sanders family. Tom's gift to his bride is nothing less than a beautiful baby grand piano for their new home at 2840 Peachtree road. For Mary Claire is a very talented pianist, and Tom desires her to continue her musical accomplishments.

Tom's aunt, Miss Sarah Sanders, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., has given them a pair of lovely 100-year-old antique vases of cream-colored china decorated with pink rosebuds, and his uncle, Joe Sanders, of Murfreesboro, made a lamp table from a cherry tree which grew in his own yard. The pedestal of the table is hand-carved by Mr. Sanders, and is unusually distinctive in appearance. These gifts and the many others which Tom and Mary Claire have received, will be cherished always, not only for their beauty and usefulness, but for the thought and interest which prompted their presentation.

WHEN little Margaret Hamilton Martin, the 16-month-old daughter of Bobby and Margaret King Martin, was christened by Rev. John Moore Walker at St. Luke's last Sunday, she looked like a delicate breath of spring with her closely curled hair, her pink crepe de chine dress, and a tiny nosegay of pink roses and snapdragons tightly clasped in her miniature fist. Rufus Darby acted as godfather on this occasion, and god-mothers were Margaret's aunt, Mrs. Stella M. Johnston, of New York, and Mrs. J. M. Couden, Bob's aunt, of Washington, D. C. The christening was quite a gala occasion, and a large number of prominent Atlantans witnessed the ceremony.

Although little Margaret is yet a child, she is amply equipped with silver. For her godfather presented her with a lovely silver plate, which is really almost as big as she is herself. Mr. and Mrs. Darby gave the baby a spoon and fork to match the plate, Mr. and Mrs. John Becker presented her with another silver spoon and fork, and Frances Barnwell gave her a lovely silver cup.

Among other gifts is a charming spring ensemble of light blue given by the baby's godmother, Mrs. Johnston; the lovely christening dress given by Margaret's mother, and the colorful flowers, which were a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrews and Dr. Charles Andrews Jr.

THE fact that two married daughters of a popular Peachtree Battle avenue household, both of whom live out of the city, have arrived home simultaneously for a visit makes one wonder if wedding bells are soon to ring in that household. Rumors have been current for some time that a charming unmarried daughter of the family and her true love are building a home, and that their marriage will take place as soon as their dream house is ready for occupancy. Rumors have also linked an unmarried son, who is an aviator of note, with a well-known Atlanta beauty. And now that a family reunion is in progress, everyone is expecting the sound of wedding bells at most any time.

Johnson-Smith.

MORGAN, Ga., March 3.—The marriage of Miss Hilda Johnson to John B. Smith, of Savannah, took place in Cordele Sunday afternoon. The bride was attired in brown woolen suit with brown accessories. She is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, of Morgan. After graduating from Morgan High school, she finished her education at Trevecca College, Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Smith, of Lyons. He attended school in Miami, Fla., and is now connected with Smith Transfer Company in Savannah. After the ceremony the couple left for Savannah where they will make their home.

Agnes Scott Girls Receive Training Course Certificates

Twenty-six Agnes Scott girls received certificates last Friday at completion of the leadership training course, offered by Miss Eva Hancock, executive secretary of the Atlanta Council of Camp Fire Girls.

The last meeting of the class, which was held as part of the gym department winter schedule, took the form of a model council fire. The theme was achievement.

Included in the course were discussions on nature lore, handicraft, symbolism, sports, bookbinding, program planning, hiking, primitive camping, camp counselorship and the adolescent girl. The planned week-end trip to Camp Toccoa was postponed until spring on account of the weather.

Those receiving certificates include Mary Alice Baker, Edith Belser, Frances Castleberry, Jean Chalmers, Cornelia Christie, Ann Cullum, Kitty Cunningham, Giddy Erwin, Michelle Furlow, Martha Head, Kitty Hoffman, Anne Howell, Ann Worthington, Sarah Johnson, Mary King, Sarah Lawrence, Jeanne Matthews, June Matthews, Betty Mathis, Mary Primrose Noble, Mary East, Virginia Poplin, Catherine Ricks, Virginia Sut-

Mrs. Henry Baker, of Baltimore, Will Be Honored at Luncheon

Mrs. Henry T. Baker, of Baltimore, Md., will be among the distinguished visitors coming to Atlanta next week. She is national president of the Service Star Legion, and visited here in 1925. Mrs. Baker will be honored at luncheon on Tuesday by members of the Atlanta chapter of Service Star Legion, to be given at the Woman's Club, with Mrs. L. P. Rosser, president of the organization, and Mrs. Marcus Beck, honorary president for life, acting as official hostesses.

Mrs. Baker has the honor of being the only woman member of the battle monuments commission, of which General John J. Pershing is chairman. Her husband, Henry T. Baker, is tenfield, Virginia. Watson and Zoe Wells.

Mrs. Llewellyn Wilburn, head of the physical education department, was awarded a certificate in appreciation of her interest in the Camp Fire organization.

Mrs. Kircher Fetes Miss Carmichael.

As a complimentary gesture to Miss Marjorie Carmichael, Mrs. Joseph president general of Sons of American Revolution, and she is accompanying him upon his tour of the south. Assisting the hostess will be members of the following committees: Hospitality, Mrs. W. F. Melton, Mrs. L. N. Ragdale, Mrs. Warren D. White and Mrs. C. H. Ashford; place cards and decorations, Mrs. J. L. Fulghum, Miss Byrd Blankenship, Mrs. A. A. Pearson; program, Mrs. A. G. Woodward; telephone, Mrs. B. R. Dickinson, Mrs. A. H. Strickland, Mrs. J. L. Fulghum, Mrs. A. O. Woodward and Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp; reservations, Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mrs. Henry Kuhrt, Mrs. L. M. Park; flowers, Mrs. Thomas H. Stewart, Mrs. M. L. Brittain.

Mrs. Kircher was hostess yesterday at a delightful luncheon at the Brookhaven Country Club. A color motif of pink and white was carried out in the decorations, the table being centered with a silver bowl of pink tulips. Guests included Misses Mary Hurt, Elizabeth Spalding, Virginia Marshall, Jennie Champion, Elizabeth Wilmet, Anati Champion, Mrs. Wallace Daniel, Mrs. Homer Carmichael, mother of the honor guest, and Miss Carmichael and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Honor Miss Shipp.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Martin were hosts last evening at dinner at their home, 2788 Peachtree road, as a complimentary gesture to Miss Mary Claire Shipp and her fiancé, Tom Sanders Jr., whose marriage takes place the latter part of this week.

The serving table was centered with a silver bowl of spring flowers of varied colors, and silverandelabra containing lighted yellow tapers completed the artistic arrangement. Guests included Miss Shipp, Mr. Sanders, Mrs. Davies Allen Palmer, Charles Byrd, Matt Harper, George Bowling, Jimmy Grizzard, Walter Paschall Jr., Misses Mary Powell, Marguerite Hall, Herndon Thomas, Dot Jontes and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blosser.

SUPER-STRATEGY.
Due, perhaps to my European birth and schooling, I always have had enormous respect for those rare men whose perfect manners and delicate finesse are equal to any situation that may arise at the bridge table and with a feminine partner. Not that women are difficult partners, in a technical sense. Temperamentally, however, they are apt to be a true sensitive and to become suddenly either fearful or vituperative. The latter is bearable, but the former is terrifying!

Playing in a recent tournament, my partner and I found ourselves opposed to a mixed pair. The woman was charming, but nervous. On the first board they were vulnerable, we were not. The man opened the bidding with one heart and I, with an almost worthless hand containing an eight card spade suit headed by the king-queen, attempted to shut out a vulnerable game with a pre-emptive bid of four spades. Every one passed. Since the woman showed up with four spades to the ace-jack-ten and several other tricks, and my partner was a jack high, I went down four tricks, for a very good score, not having been doubled.

As his partner raked in trick after trick, he himself taking only a few, since he had a minimum bid, the man's face was a study. Perhaps his partner, with feminine intuition, sensed that she should have bid something or other, rather than passing, because she seemed closed to tears. But Gallahad in all his armor never could have saved this day any gallant unknown. In a voice fairly dripping with apology, he said: "I'm so sorry, partner. I should have realized you were making a forcing pass!"

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 2 spades Pass
3 hearts Pass 3 spades (final bid) Pass
4 hearts Pass 6 spades (final bid) Pass

Undoubtedly South was highly optimistic in bidding the slam, considering his void in partner's bid suit. Nevertheless, he almost made it!

West was extremely tempted to lay down a high heart honor, "to take a look" but after considerable thought he changed his mind. It was perfectly obvious that North had no second suit, otherwise he would have bid it instead of two rebidding hearts. That being so, if the declarer had losing hearts, on what could he discard them?

The considered choice of the club jack as the opening lead proved to be quite effective. With the king in East's hand, the declarer was helpless, and was defeated two tricks, losing two clubs and one diamond.

The lead of the heart king would be fatal to the defenders. South would ruff, draw trumps, and enter dummy with a diamond. He then would lead the heart queen and pass it, discarding a club or diamond from his own hand. West's other heart honor would be forced out and the second diamond entry would permit discards on the established hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: Is the following an opening bid, vulnerable?

Bath Powders of Delicate Scent Are Luxuries That Improve Your Morale

By MIGNON.
There is one thing that no woman should be without—and that is a delicate fragrant bath powder. If you take a bath and do not follow it with a bath powder, it puts you in the frame of mind of having merely washed up the kitchen floor or washed off the window sills. There is no lure in cleanliness alone, as much as it is to be recommended, unless it can be topped off with at least a small dash of fragrance.

There are many bath powders that are inexpensive and very good, so it does not cost you a small fortune to be a little bit luxurious every day. It sets you up mentally, there is no question about that, and makes you feel just a little bit more delicate, a

COMMITTEE TO STUDY CHANGES IN ZONING

The following proposals to change Atlanta zoning ordinances will be considered by the zoning subcommittee of the city planning commission at a meeting to be held at 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, March 11, at the city hall.

An ordinance by Alderman Murphy to change from a dwelling house district to an industrial district property on the north side of Caroline street, beginning 161 feet east of Moreland avenue and extending east along the north side of Caroline street to the Rutledge street intersection north along the west side of Rutledge street 150 feet; thence west along the south line of property owned by the Lee Baking Company 150 feet; and thence south 150 feet to the point of beginning.

To change from a dwelling house district to a business district property extending 54 feet from the east side of Cooper street, S. W., beginning 50 feet north of Crumley street. Petitioner—L. W. Turk.

LOS ANGELES TEACHER VISITS LOCAL SCHOOLS

Mrs. Eugenia West Jones, formerly of Atlanta but now of Los Angeles and one of the chief executives of the National Education Association, inspected several Atlanta schools yesterday. She was accompanied on her tour by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of city schools; Miss Charlotte Smith, art supervisor, and Miss Ethel Massengale, primary supervisor.

Mrs. Jones is visiting her brother, H. F. West, insurance executive, at his home at 3737 Peachtree road. She was born and reared here, though for a number of years she has been a teacher in the Los Angeles kindergarten department.

EUGENE R. BLACK JR. RECOVERING FROM FLU

Eugene R. Black Jr., of New York, is recovering from an attack of influenza which interrupted him in Atlanta last Wednesday as he was on his way to Florida with his son, Eugene Black III.

Mr. Black has been confined to his bed for a week, it was said last night, and it will be probably two or three days before he will be able to leave his rooms at an Atlanta hotel. His illness, however, was not critical, it was reported by his nurse.

Mr. Black is undecided whether he will resume his trip to Florida or return to New York. He has been mentioned recently for the post of under-secretary of the treasury, recently indicated by L. W. (Chip) Robert of Atlanta. Mr. Black is the son of the late governor of the Federal Reserve System, noted Georgia lawyer and banker.

HOUSE GROUP HEARS RUDY PRAISE MUSIC

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP) No matter how gorgeous the girls or how scanty their panties, a Broadway show must have good music, "pack 'em in," Rudy Valle informed the house patents committee today.

The tall, blond crooner testified in opposition to a bill by Senator E. Ryan Duffy, democrat, Wisconsin, which would amend the 1906 copyright law. Its effect would be to cut the fees now charged by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, known as ASCAP, which the members contend are too low already.

It was while Rudy was reading a prepared statement asserting that the bill would impoverish the authors of "Tin Pan Alley's Immortal Ditties" that Representative Thomas O'Malley, democrat, Wisconsin, broke in.

"You mean that unless the beautiful women in the shows have the proper music they cannot pack 'em in?" "That's right," said Rudy.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Four lines, please. Address: Miss Caroline Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Here is the fix a friend of mine is in. She is engaged to be married, loves the man with all her heart and doesn't want to give him up. After several years' engagement he tells her that if he were sure they could be happy as long as he is uncertain he thinks they had better wait. When he comes to see her she says he is too fair to go out and he just sits by the fire, puts his head in her lap and leaves it there until time to go home. He is selfish, stingy, sarcastic and treats her as if she were a puppy that only needed to be patted once in a while. He used to be so nice and kind, careful of his clothes. Now he comes looking downy and says "What's the use of dressing up, when we aren't going anywhere?" When he spends a little money on her he says "There is some more good money wasted." She loves children and wants a family and he says he flates children, his old car is about to fall to pieces and he won't get a new one because he thinks it is foolish to spend money that isn't necessary, though he owns a good business and can afford anything in reason. She is dignified, proud and pretty, has always lived in a happy atmosphere and she is wondering whether or not she can change this man so they will be happy after they are married. His sarcasm annoys her more than any of his bad traits. Would appreciate a full discussion of this.

BEST FRIEND

Answer: Your best friend may be pretty but she is not proud nor bright either. She hasn't the faintest idea of what it is all about. If she gets the handcuffs on that cad (which is doubtful) she will find out what it is all about, and to her dismay. How any girl of ordinary intelligence can be a happily in love with a tout who hasn't one admirable characteristic passes understanding! But it goes to prove what is often said that a girl's love is ready-made when the lad comes along and regardless of his suitability she lays it on him, if he gives her the opportunity.

Any girl can take the best tricks her fiancé puts up and divide them two to get an idea of how good a husband he will make. She can take his bad traits and multiply them by 10 to get a good idea of what she may expect after marriage. For he is cunning as a fox in concealing what he thinks will displease her. If he has inadvertently let her into the secret of his selfishness, his stinginess, his egotism and his discourtesy during their engagement days, she may bank one of two things; either he has no intention of marrying her or he regards her literally as a puppy that will take anything he puts on her kicks and cuffs and an occasional pat.

This is bad enough when they spend a few hours each evening together, but when she marries him and takes him a regular 24-hour diet she can count on 365 days of every penny penny she gets, account for every penny she spends, and with personal discosity and cruelty, be repelled by his personal untidiness and constantly humiliated before people, to boot.

She will have swapped a happy home atmosphere for one that is sour and dank. All love's illusions that survived the engagement days will be dispelled and her love turned to loathing. For girls love their shining vision of love and wives love (or loathe) the bodily shape that vision takes in the persons of their husbands.

Sitting by the fire, the boy friend's head in her lap, girl sees things in the flames, sees beyond his unpressed suit and his soiled linen and his tousled head to a neat home, a family of rosy-cheeked babies, security, comfort, permanence. Shall she get it? That depends upon the head in her lap and the character inside the suit. Your friend would get it if you have read the cards correctly.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DECENTRALIZATION OF MASSES URGED

United States Treasurer Outlines Program in Florida Resort.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 3. (AP)—A program for decentralizing "coagulated" populations and industries was described here today by W. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States.

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he said, had agreed to 'assist in making the loans for the program."

"Small industries would be moved to small towns, under the plan, and stranded urban populations transferred to the towns, where they could raise their own food and work in the factories. Part-time industries, particularly, would be set up.

"We have got to get these great coagulated masses of people out of the cities, where there is nothing for them, and off the relief rolls," said Julian, who is vacationing here.

"Labor is badly distributed and it must be spread out," he added. "The place to spread it is where it can be handled."

MRS. AMANDA HUDSON PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Amanda Hudson, a resident of Atlanta for 50 years, died last night at her home, 272 Williams street, N. W., at the age of 78 years.

Mrs. Hudson was prominent in church circles, and was a charter member of the Baptist Tabernacle.

She is survived by a son, L. G. Hudson; a brother, E. L. Higdon, of Birmingham, Ala.; and two sisters, Mrs. Laura Grace and Mrs. Beesie Robertson, of Bremen, Ga.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Atwry & Lowndes.

Ann's bed-time beauty care guards against COSMETIC SKIN

IT'S so important to remove powder and rouge thoroughly! Many a girl, without realizing it, is actually spoiling her own looks. For when cosmetics are allowed to choke the pores, unattractive Cosmetic Skin develops—dullness, blemishes, enlarged pores.

Cosmetics Harmless if removed this way
Follow this simple rule: Never go to bed without using Lux Toilet Soap. Its ACTIVE lather sinks pore-deep, removes every trace of dust, dirt, stale cosmetics. Then you're ready for beauty sleep—the natural loveliness of your skin protected. During the day, too, before you renew your make-up—use this soap to keep skin flawless.

OF COURSE I USE COSMETICS! BUT THANKS TO LUX TOILET SOAP I HAVEN'T ANY FEAR OF GETTING COSMETIC SKIN

Balloting for Presidential Candidates Features Meeting of Junior League

A feature of the meeting of the Atlanta Junior League held yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club was the balloting for candidates for president of the organization. Balloting takes place at the Piedmont Driving Club from 10 to 11 o'clock today and tomorrow, and all classifications of members are privileged to vote. The votes will be counted by a committee, and the two members receiving the largest number of votes will be nominated for president, the selection to be made by ballot at the April meeting.

Mrs. Green Warren gave an interesting report of the Baltimore Theater conference which she attended, saying that the general feeling is that the success of the children's theater lies in the close co-operation with the board of education and the Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Robert P. Green, who also attended the Baltimore conference, told of the enthusiastic reception given the Atlanta League's marionette performance of "Uncle Remus," presented before the conference.

Miss Frances Spinks Honored at Parties.

Miss Frances Spinks, whose marriage to Jack Mundy takes place on March 14, is being entertained at a series of delightful parties. Dr. J. C. Chester Parham Jr. was hostess at her home on North avenue on Thursday evening at a miscellaneous party.

The guests enjoyed a contest wherein articles necessary for keeping house were named. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. R. Spinks, mother of the bride-elect; Miss Sara Lane, Mrs. L. R. Williams and Miss May Tom Haynes. Each guest wrote a wish to the bride-elect in an attractive booklet shaped as a wedding bell.

The color scheme of pink and white was carried out and the room was decorated with hyacinths. Mrs. Parham was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Claude Peeples. Guests were Misses Doris Mundy, May Tom Haynes, Sara Campbell, Ruby Ball, Ione Neelley, Lucille Coggin, Daisy Garrett, Sara Lane, Eleanor Goodwin, Gladys Shadburn, Grace Shadburn, Mesdames Genout Humphrey, Beatrice Lamar, J. R. Spinks Sr., J. R. Spinks Jr., Lovie Swearingen, M. R. Hazels, L. G. Williams, Christine Ragan, Willard Owen, W. J. Howard and C. D. Payne.

The Business Women's Circle of Pryor Street Presbyterian church honored Miss Spinks at a miscellaneous shower at the close of their meeting Monday night. The color scheme was

CITY PAY ROLL HANGS ON CONFERENCE TODAY

Refusal of Bank Loan Would Delay Payment of Wages for at Least One Week.

Pay roll for about 3,000 municipal employees tomorrow depends on the outcome of a conference this morning between Atlanta bankers, it was announced by Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman of the finance committee of council, and City Comptroller B. Graham West.

If Atlanta's credit is extended for another $300,000, the pay roll can be met promptly, the city refused the other bank loan, it will be probably a week before enough funds will accrue to permit payment.

The sum of $151,333 yesterday was turned into municipal coffers as the result of a compromise Monday by the Coca-Cola International Corporation for 1933 taxes. Mayor Key approved the council resolution during the day, and a check for the amount was turned over to Milam.

Both West and Milam were hopeful that the banks will continue to lend the city money until the first installment of city taxes becomes due on May 1.

BUG RAID NETS POLICE ALLEGED 'HIGHER-UPS'

Man and Woman Arrested as Lottery Equipment, Cash Are Confiscated.

Raiding what police believe was an important center of "bug" operations in Atlanta, Lieutenant J. O. McKibben and his special lottery squad last night seized $32 in cash, an adding machine, lottery tickets and other "bug" paraphernalia and arrested two alleged operators in a house at 807 Lawton street.

Claude Anderson, 24, who lived at the house, and Annie Lovinger, also 24, of 44 Ormond street, were booked on disorderly conduct and lottery charges. Anderson was later released under $500 bond and the woman under $200. Police said that both had previous records.

Three negroes were arrested in a downtown office building and charged with being lottery pickups by Patrolmen J. H. Crankshaw, I. P. Jones and Doc Sims. The negroes gave names as Robert Clark, 1330 Hodge drive; Sam Huel, 1175 Osborn street, and Jewel Hightower, 728 Smith street.

5 UNMASKED BANDITS ROB BANK OF $38,309

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Practically all members of the law enforcement divisions of the city and county were at work tonight in an attempt to bring about arrest of five gangsters, armed and unmasked, who held up the Columbia Bank this morning at 11:15 o'clock.

In a final checkup, bank officials declared the robbers made away with $24,800 in cash, $1,500 in government bonds and about $12,000 in blank travelers' checks. They overtook the $12,000 in silver and gold specie secured in the bank's vault. The loss, the bank declared, was fully covered by insurance.

30 POLICEMEN NAMED IN 'NUMBERS' RACKET

BALTIMORE, March 3.—(AP)—The grand jury investigating the "numbers" racket here presented 30 policemen today on conspiracy charges. Ten sergeants, one lieutenant and 19 patrolmen made up the list.

Eight who already had been presented on bribery charges were included.

Several civilians also were involved in the four new cases presented by the jury.

The policemen were accused of conspiring with alleged "numbers" operators to violate the lottery laws.

Tooth Drills Sans Ache To Be Exhibited Here

An analysis of Hartman's desensitizer, widely heralded as an agent which will prevent pain during the process of grinding out sensitive cavities in teeth, will be made by leading dentists throughout the southeast at the annual session of the Thomas P. Hinnman midwinter clinic, which will be held next Monday and Tuesday at the Biltmore hotel.

Dr. Paul H. Jeserich, professor of operative dentistry at the University of Michigan, will discuss the new discovery by Dr. Hartman, of Columbia University, Dr. Jeserich is said to have made a thorough investigation of Dr. Hartman's formula.

The fact that the dental profession has not had sufficient time to formulate an opinion as to the merits of the new formula should make Dr. Jeserich's opinion of unusual interest both to dentists and to the public of the southeast, according to officials of the clinic.

This annual clinic serves as a clearing house for the latest and best methods in the practice of dentistry, according to Dr. Clinton C. Howard, chairman of the clinic committee. Other speakers at the seminar will include Dr. A. B. Vassil, of Hoochburg, Pa.; Dr. E. E. Owen, of St. Louis, and Dr. Virgil Loeb, of St. Louis.

CANDIDATE'S CLAIM OF SAVING JOBS HIT

Bond Commission Chairman Charges Statement for Political Purposes.

James H. Ewing, chairman of the Atlanta Bond Commission, yesterday issued a statement attacking a claim of a candidate for the Fulton county commission that he "appeared before" the bond commission to save the jobs of 1,000 men. "Condemnation of such an assertion made for 'political purposes' was contained in the following statement by Ewing:

"At a meeting of the bond commission held in the city hall on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, there was brought to the attention of this commission the statement quoted as having been made on two occasions by a candidate for county commissioner, to the effect:

"That he gave as his reason for not attending a meeting of the Atlanta League of Women Voters 'that he had an important conference at the city hall with the chairman of the bond commission and the city engineers and the chairman of the sewer committee to save the jobs of 1,000 men.'"

"The bond commission has not taken any action that would cut off one single man from employment. On the other hand, it is the desire of the bond commission that the sewer projects now being made on two occasions by the candidate for county commissioner, have at least 2,500 more men working, in our opinion, to complete these projects by June 30, 1933."

"Any statement made for political purposes to the effect that any workman's job is at stake by the action of the bond commission is absolutely untrue and incorrect, and I trust that this candidate will correct the statement he has made, because I do not believe that he would want to be elected to office under a false representation."

"The only question at issue between the bond commission and the construction department was that we did not agree with them that the raises in salaries should come out of the bond funds, and we so voted against it. That is all there is to it. Any statement to the effect that this candidate will correct the statement he has made, because I do not believe that he would want to be elected to office under a false representation."

"Very truly yours,
J. H. EWING,
Chairman, Bond Commission."

Flying Ants Cause Fire Engine Call

SANTA MONICA, Cal., March 3.—(AP)—A great black cloud appeared suddenly over the Malibu hills today.

It swirled as if driven by the breeze, and it lay like a smothering smoke pall over the land.

Assistant County Fire Warden Al W. Vincent saw the cloud from his lookout tower. He flashed an alarm—a fire crew hurried to the scene—and found a cloud of flying ants, billions of them.

And they swarmed, of all places, over Sugar Loaf peak.

CHARGES ARE CHANGED AGAINST LOUIS TRAINER

CHICAGO, March 3.—(AP)—Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty announced today the charge of manslaughter against Jack Black, trainer of Joe Louis, Detroit heavyweight fighter, would be dropped and prosecution on an assault to kill charge substituted.

Blackburn and two other negroes, William Parnell and John Bowman, were scheduled for arraignment later in criminal court. The charges against them resulted from a street shooting after last October 20 in which Enoch Houser, 69, negro, was killed, and Lucy Cannon, nine-year-old negro girl, was wounded.

Auto Victim Dies

ORLANDO, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—A winter visitor, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, from New York city, was killed near here early today when a car in which she was riding overturned on a highway curve. Her daughter, Mrs. F. Hall, of this city, was seriously injured.
